COUNTY BUS CO. PROPOSES LIMITING P.S. CO. TO EXPRESS RUNS OUTSIDE CITY

Smaller Firm Could Offer Cross-County Service, Run Feeder Lines at Profit, Transit Commission Is Told.

A proposal that St. Louis Public Service Co. be required to confine its operations in St. Louis county to express service only, leaving St. Louis County Transit Co. free to run cross-county routes and feeder lines outside the city, was made by County Transit yesterday.

Officers of the county firm also told the St. Louis County Transportation Committee at a hearing on mass transportation problems that neither single ownership of the two systems nor public ownership of the county firm would be feasible. These were among the principal issues before the committee.

Arthur F. Bangert, vice president and general manager of County Transit, said he believed it would be possible for Public Service to confine its county operations to express service from several county terminals to downtown St. Louis. This would allow County Transit to show a growing profit, he said, since it would be operating without competition in areas where the two firms now offer duplicate service.

"Cream" Route Competition.

Alfred H. Kerth, attorney for County Transit, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that as conditions now stand, his firm operates a large number of unprofitable runs while at the same time engaging in competition with Public Service Co. on the so-called "cream" routes.

Under County Transit's plan, suggested originally by a 10-member committee appointed by Carl H. Holekamp, chairman of St. Louis County Chamber of Commerce, Public Service Co. would receive passengers from County Transit at certain "key points" or "natural terminals" in the county, Kerth said.

Such terminals, he said, exist in Webster Groves, Maplewood, Wellston, Jennings, Pine Lawn and the Clayton courthouse. It might be necessary, he added, for Public Service Co. to give extended service to more distant sections of the county in rush periods.

Operating Costs Compared.

Bangert and Kerth both said they believed their firm would be in a better position to provide feeder service to Public Service terminals in the county because County Transit operates at a lower cost per mile. Bangert said operating costs of his firm average 29 cents a mile compared with 50 cents for Public Service Co.

Because of the difference in operating costs, Public Service also would benefit from the proposal, Bangert said. Public records show that Public Service Co. busses were operated last year at slightly under 43 cents a mile.

Dealing next with proposals for single ownership of the two systems, Bangert said this would not be feasible—again because of the lower operating costs per mile of County Transit. If, for example, Public Service absorbed County Transit, the St. Louis utility's operating costs on its new county routes would rise to the point where they might become uneconomical, he said.

Opposes Public Ownership.

Bangert also rejected as not feasible a proposal for public ownership of County Transit, since, he said, the same problems that beset the private company would exist if it were taken over and operated as public property.

Asked his opinion on whether operation of service cars would help improve service, Bangert said it would not, adding that if they were to carry sufficient casualty and property insurance, service cars would not be able to operate at all.

Kerth added that if a feasible plan can be worked out so that County Transit can begin showing a profit again, it would be able to put more and newer busses into operation.

Without such a plan, Bangert said, the only factors that could give County Transit a "shot in the arm" would be all-out war, with gasoline rationing, or an economic depression in the country, which might force many persons to leave their automobiles at home.

"Of course," he said, "we don't want either of these things to happen."

County Transit, which came into being in 1926, operated at a profit until 1949, when its loss totaled $40,000. During the first 10 months of 1950, the company's losses totaled $80,000. It was at that time that Holekamp formed the committee whose report County Transit has all but adopted as its own.

Since then, the company has obtained permission from the Missouri Public Service Commission on two occasions to place increased fare schedules in effect. The last of these increases, authorized by the commission June 21, will allow the company to operate at a profit of $6000 in the first year under the new schedule, it has been estimated.

TRUMAN URGES $15,000,000 FOR EMERGENCY RELIEF IN FLOODED KAW RIVER VALLEY

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP). PRESIDENT TRUMAN today threw the Administration's weight behind a move to appropriate $15,000,000 for emergency relief in the flooded Kaw river valley.

The White House announced the President had been in conference overnight with Speaker Rayburn (Dem.), Texas, and Chairman Cannon (Dem.), Missouri, of the House Appropriations Committee and had asked them for the money.

Shortly afterwards, a House Appropriations subcommittee voted approval of a $15,000,000 grant. The measure will be submitted to the full committee Monday morning and to the House when it meets at noon.

The White House announcement also said that Truman had asked Secretary of Agriculture Brannon to see that necessary food is available, and to provide loans and other assistance for farmers "to help them get started again when the flood waters recede."

Maj. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, the chief of Army Engineers, reported to President Truman from Kansas City that flood waters are several feet higher than in any previous flood in the area. Pick told Truman that flood damages "easily exceed $500,000,000."

WATERING OYSTERS IN STORES TO ADD TO BULK CHARGED

Criminal informations were filed in United States District Court here today charging Fred P. Rapp and the Food Center of St. Louis, Inc., operators of supermarkets, with watering oysters to increase their bulk.

The informations, filed by United States Attorney Drake Watson, charge that water was added to oysters which were shipped to the companies in cans by an oyster firm at West Sayville, N.Y., last winter.

Watson stated that watering of the oysters not only increased their bulk and reduced their quality but also resulted in their being adulterated within the meaning of the federal pure food laws.

REPORT ON RFC: 'FEDERAL AGENCIES NEVER FADE AWAY'

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—"It is axiomatic that emergency agencies of the Federal Government rarely die natural deaths and, unlike old soldiers, they never fade away."

So observed the Senate Banking Committee yesterday in putting the future of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation squarely up to the Senate.

The committee filed a report outlining arguments for and against abolishing the Government lending agency. In line with an earlier announcement, it made no outright recommendation either way.

Instead of dying natural deaths or just fading away, the committee said, emergency agencies "chamelon-like" adapt their operations to changing conditions and find some new reason for their continued existence."

TRUMAN GOES DOWN TO STATION EARLY TO GREET DAUGHTER

WASHINGTON, July 14 (UP)—President Truman, just like any other father, got to the station early last night to greet his daughter. He showed up at Union Station 15 minutes before the train carrying his daughter Margaret was due from New York.

Miss Truman, who returned to this country yesterday from a seven-week European tour, smiled happily as she stepped from the train. Truman had walked almost a quarter of a mile down to the end of the platform so he could greet his daughter privately.

The presidential limousine was driven down the platform to the last car, where it picked up Truman and his daughter. They were driven to Blair House when the rest of the passengers had left the platform.

FLOODS BEGINNING TO RECEDE FROM KANSAS CITY AND EASTERN KANSAS

Gov. Smith Declares Emergency, Asks Legislature to Make Funds Available for National Guard Pay.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 14 (AP)—Record-breaking flood waters which paralyzed this metropolitan area of nearly 1,000,000 persons began to recede slowly today.

City officials, who had declared a state of emergency, said this means hat the worst is over. But they emphasized that it does not mean the end of the flood emergency.

In Jefferson City, Gov. Forrest Smith today declared a state of emergency as a result of the flood and called on all state agencies to render all aid and assistance possible toward the relief of flood conditions.

He also announced that he is calling on President Truman and Congress to provide as speedily as possible an emergency relief appropriation. The Governor leaves tomorrow for Washington, where he will confer with Missouri's two Senators and 13 Representatives Monday at a breakfast at Hotel Mayflower.

Asks Legislature to Help.

Gov. Smith urged the Missouri Legislature, which is scheduled to reconvene Sept. 10, to make funds available as soon as possible which would permit the Missouri National Guard to be placed on emergency flood duty.

The Legislature for many years has made an appropriation of about $20,000 to cover emergency use of the National Guard but this year the item was cut out by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Smith said damage to crops alone in Missouri would amount to $75.000,000.

Smith sent telegrams to House Speaker Roy Hamlin of Hannibal and William M. Quinn of Maywood, president pro tem of the Senate, asking them to take action so that the Legislature would make funds available for National Guard pay at the earliest possible moment.

In eastern Kansas, flood waters receded at some points, bunt were on a rampage at others, adding millions to damage already estimated at $500,000,000.

Rivers Reach Crests.

The Missouri here crested at 36 feet, a foot above the previous rcord stage. The Kansas began falling slowly after reaching 39 feet.

Inundated here were the rich industrial districts of Armourdale and Argentine in Kansas City, Kan., and the central industrial district, which lies in both cities.

The northeast industrial district and North Kansas City were believed to be safe, but some water was entering the Fairfax industrial district in Kansas City, Kan. Army engineers said they did not know whether they would be able to hold the Missouri river out of the Fairfax distdict.

Offer of Guardsmen.

Although the Missouri National Guard cannot be called on duty because the state has no funds to pay the members, Col. William C. Branton tonight offered the city the services of volunteers from guard units for patrol work.

Col. Branton, chief of staff of the Thirty-fifth Division, said 100 members of the 110th Engineer Combat Battalion would report for police duty tonight. About 75 members of the 205th Medical Battalion will report tomorrow.

All non-essential businesses not in the flooded areas were ordered to close.

Many persons were missing, but because of the thousands of refugees close checks were impossible.

City officials ordered stringent safeguards to conserve the water supply and to clear disaster areas for rescue work.

Highway and rail traffic halted.

Single Water Pumping Station.

Because of flood waters, the load for furnishing water to Kansis City, Mo., fell on a single station which is capable of pumping only one-third of the normal city requirements.

The city garbage disposal unit

'Wolves' Ask Wahlgren to Keep Weather Clear for Baseball

(Picture on Page 3A.)

It had better not rain tomorrow or meteorologist Harry F. Wahlgren won't be able to keep the "Wolves" away from the door.

The Wolves are a baseball team from the Neighborhood Association, a Community Chest agency at 2930 North Twenty-First street. Oldest player on the squad is 13.

Six Wolves visited Wahlgren at the Weather Bureau yesterday, complete with bats and baseball caps, and demanded skies by clear tomorrow, St. Swithin's day. According to superstition, if it rains on St. Swithin's day, it will continue to rain for 40 days following.

Wahlgren predicted it would be sunny.

Gary Schnur, 10 years old, 2307 Hebert street, captain of the team, said he faced a 20-game schedule this season. So far the record stands at 4 wins and 1 loss. One disputed game is still being hashed over and two games have been called because of rain.

"I don't see how we can get through the season if it rains for 40 days," Schnur said. He said his star, pitcher, Walter Bishop, 13, 2301A Palm street, couldn't make the trip to the Weather Bureau. It was presumed he was at home getting in shape for the 12 games left on the schedule.

Mrs. Otto Wirth, 3936 North Twenty-fifth street, accompanied the boys to see Wahlgren. "I hope it doesn't rain, too," she said. "You should see the mud they track in the house." She is the mother of Carl Wirth, a 10-year-old Wolf.

Other members of the team who traveled to the Weather Bureau in the Federal Building were: James Kuhns, 13, of 2317 Hebert street; Christy Anton, 11, of 2324 Palm; Kenneth Patterson, 12, of 3036 North Twenty-first, and Robert Adams, 11, of 1529A North Seventeenth.

TRAVEL BETWEEN KANSAS CITY AND ST. LOUIS CRIPPLED

Trains, Autos, Airlines Affected by Floods — Tourists From City Stranded in West.

Train, airline and automobile travel between St. Louis and Kansas City was crippled today as a result of floods in Kansas City.

Almost no trains were expected in today from Kansas City. Airlines reported some day flights would be rerouted to the Grandview, Mo., airport, 15 miles south of Kansas City. The Kansas City Municipal Airport has been evacuated because of high water on its approaches and operations have been transferred to Grandview.

A group of 131 St. Louisans, most of them young women, was stranded in the West when floods forced cancellation of trains. Fifty-eight members of the group, touring the West, were in Colorado, where efforts were being made today to route them home through Chicago or Burlington, Ia., on the Burlington Railroad.

Other members of the group are expected home late tomorrow from Grand Canyon, Ariz. They were to arrive in Denver today.

The Automobile Club of Missouri reported only one direct highway route to Kansas City open today. This is U.S. Highway 50 to Warrensburg, Missouri 13 to U.S. 40 and 40 into Kansas City.

Direct routes on U.S. 40 and 24 are closed, the Auto Club said.

Service Canceled.

The Wabash Railroad canceled service between here and Kansas City. The line normally operates three trains each way daily. The Union Pacific City of St. Louis from the west coast, which ties in with the Wabash at Kansas City, was rerouted through Omaha and was 19 hours late reaching St. Louis.

The Wabash City of Kansas City and a run inbound from Kansas City also were canceled.

Missouri Pacific lines reported service from St. Louis to Kansas City had been nearly normal, with four of five regularly scheduled trains operating. The Colorado Eagle has been canceled for three days, stranding passengers in Colorado. Four Missouri Pacific runs operated yesterday.

Three TWA flights from Lambert-St. Louis field were canceled yesterday and three more were rerouted. No TWA flights have been scheduled from here to Kansas City since noon yesterday.

Air Riders Stranded.

A number of TWA passengers were stranded in Kansas City, the airline reported. The last of two Mid-Continent Airlines flights to Kansas City was canceled last night.

Freight service between here and Kansas City was paralyzed when approaches to freight yards were flooded, Missouri Pacific officials reported.

TRUMAN TO VISIT DETROIT

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—President Truman plans to visit Detroit July 28 to participate in the city's 250th anniversary celebration.

The White House announced the President's plans yesterday. He probably will fly to Detroit and back to Washington in one day.

MOVE TO POST BAIL FOR HAMMETT AND DR. HUNTON FAILS

NEW YORK, July 14 (UP)—Attempts to provide bail for mystery writer Dashiell Hammett and Dr. W. Althaeus Hunton, jailed trustees of the left-wing Civil Rights Congress bail fund, failed today and they must spend another weekend in cells.

United State Commissioner Edward McDonald adjourned their bail hearing until Monday when the Government questioned the source of the $20,000 in cash and government bonds offered to cover their bail of $10,000 each.

Hammett and Hunton have been sentenced to six months in prison for contempt during United States district court proceedings to learn the names of persons who supplied bail money for four fugitive Communist party leaders.

Their attorney, Mrs. Mary Kaufman, tried to post $10,000 in cash for Hammett, saying the money was supplied by his secretary, Muriel Alexander.

Miss Alexander said she had $10,000 on her person, but when Assistant United States Attorney Roy Cohen asked where she got it, Mrs. Kaufman withdrew the offer.

The attorney next offered $10,000 for Hunton, saying the cash was his personal property. But when Cohen announced he wanted to question Hunton about where he obtained the money, McDonald adjourned the hearing until Monday.

ATTLEE EXPRESSES 'SYMPATHY' TO TRUMAN ON FLOODS

British Prime Minister Also Voices Concern For Residents in Kansas and Missouri.

WASHINGTON, July 14 (UP)—British Prime Minister Clement Attlee expressed his "sympathy" to President Truman today in connection with the disastrous Kansas-Missouri flood.

Attlee's message:

"I have read with concern of the floods which have occurred in Kansas and in the western part of your own state of Missouri, and wish to express my lively sympathy both with you and with the people of those states in this disaster."

LOW-RENT HOUSING HERE MAY GET OK FROM CONGRESS

Conference Committee Votes Against a Restriction Passed by House.

Action of a Senate-House conference committee in Washington yesterday, permitting construction of 50,000 low-rent public housing units this year, will lift the bar placed on St. Louis's low-rent housing program by House action two months ago, if the conference report is finally approved by Congress.

Housing and municipal officials here were shocked when the House of Representatives cut the nation's low-rent housing program for the fiscal year down to 5000 units, virtually killing the St. Louis program.

Construction of the John J. Cochran Garden Apartments with 704 dwelling units, which already had been started by the St. Louis Housing Authority, was not hampered by the Congressional action.

However, the authority's plans for development of the big DeSoto-Carr area, including three individual housing projects, were threatened, as were the city's plans for housing projects in other blighted areas.

The first step in the DeSoto-Carr development, construction of which has been planned to start in the fall, is for erection of 1740 units for Negroes. A financial contract with the Public Housing Administration has been executed.

Next step in development of the area, which was planned for next year, is construction of 1222 units for white tenants. Architects' plans and specifications for this construction have been submitted to the PHA.

Plans are being prepared for the third step in development of the DeSoto-Carr area, construction of an additional 1526 units for Negroes. In addition, plans are under consideration for development to the area south of Chouteau avenue and east of the Clinton-Peabody Terrace housing facility.

Lucky Friday the 13th.

INGLEWOOD, Calif., July 14 (UP) — A pari-mutuel clerk at Hollywood Park on Friday the 13th punched out a $100 ticket on a horse by mistake and couldn't sell it. But the horse, Piquancy, came bouncing home in the seventh race to pay $54.10 on $2 tickets and the $100 ticket, which the clerk had to buy, netted him $2605.

DEWEY IN FORMOSA, TO GET NATIONALIST VIEWS ON FAR EAST

TAIPEH, Formosa, July 14 (AP)—New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey arrived at this Chinese Nationalist base today on another lap of his tour of the Orient as a private United States citizen.

Dewey said he would study land reform on Formosa and confer with Nationalist leaders on the Pacific situation.

His arrival was a gala occasion for the Nationalists. Gov. K. C. Wu of Formosa and a crowd of Nationalist legislators met him at the airport. A record number of photographers was on hand.

Hat in hand, Dewey stood in the blazing sun and shook hands with people surging forward.

When one man said "My name is Wu," the visiting Governor replied "that makes the fourth Wu I've met today."

The only item on Dewey's agenda for today was a dinner at the home of Chinese Nationalist Premier Chen Cheng. He will meet President Chiang Kai-shek at a tea tomorrow.

TRUCE WON'T HALT RED DRIVE IN ASIA, THAI PREMIER SAYS

BANGKOK, July 14 (AP)—Premier Phibun Songgram of Thailand says a Red Chinese drive to dominate the nations of southeast Asia—including his own prosperous country — would not be swerved by any cease-fire in Korea.

"The next phase of the Communist program in Asia' after any Korean cease-fire will be to infiltrate all countries of Southeast Asia," the Premier said yesterday in an interview. "Communist tactics of the world war, infiltration and 'volunteer invasions' will be used against Thailand, Indochina, Burma and then down to Indonesia.

"Communist propaganda seeks to destroy Southeast Asian governments," the veteran statesman said. "Native factions which succeed in overturning these governments will be forced to depend solely on Moscow — like Red China."

The Premier blamed Red propaganda for inspiring the three-day rebellion in the Thai armed forces two weeks ago and his own kidnaping by rebels.

4 BRITISH DESTROYERS SENT TO STAND BY OFF IRAN, EGYPT

VALLETTA, Malta, July 14 (UP) — Four destroyers of the British Mediterranean fleet have been dispatched to Aden to stand by for emergency duty off either Iran or Egypt, it was disclosed today.

Added Starter in Soap Box Derby Wrecks Starting Ramp, at 80 m.p.h.

The annual Soap Box Derby got off to an unexpectedly early start today when Frank Barton, Negro laborer, entered the blockaded Express highway at Vandeventer avenue in his automobile and, pursued by a police car, sped westward at 80 miles an hour until he crashed against the starting ramp for the derby at Hampton avenue.

Barton and two passengers in his automobile escaped injury, but the impact seriously damaged the starting ramp. Workmen redoubled their efforts and got it ready for the official start of the derby at 8:30 a.m. More than 350 boys will participate in the races, piloting their motorless racers downhill from Hampton to Tamm avenue. The Express highway will remain closed to traffic all day.

Barton, declared unofficial winner of the derby by police, was booked for appearance in police court Aug. 4 on charges of careless driving, destruction of property, speeding, entering a closed street, going the wrong way on a one-way street (he entered the highway via the exit lane) and having no city driver's license.

URGE DISCUSSION TO DEFINE AREA OF NEUTRAL ZONE AROUND KAESONG

Also Propose Talks on Facilitating Movement To and From Site, Number of Persons Allowed There.

SEOUL, Sunday, July 15 (AP)—The Reds agreed today to remove armed guards from Kaesong and admit 20 Allied correspondents, but said they want to talk over the rest of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's demands for resuming cease-fire talks.

There was no immediate comment from Allied headquarters as to when the talks, broken off since Thursday, might be resumed.

The Peiping radio mildly scolded the Allies in today's broadcast of the Communist message.

Calls Press Issue "Trifling."

The text of the reply to Ridgway's demands of Friday said the concessions were made "to eliminate misunderstandings and arguments over some side questions." It called the issue of admitting Allied correspondents too "trifling" to break up talks which have "not yet achieved any result." It was the Reds' refusal to allow 20 United Nations correspondents to go to Kaesong that interrupted the talks Thursday.

Issues raised by Ridgway which the Reds would leave to settlement by mutual discussions included the area of the Kaesong neutral zone, methods of facilitating free movements in and out and the number of personnel to be admitted.

The text was first broadcast Saturday by the North Korean Pyongyang radio in Korean, and then by Peiping today in English under a Pyongyang dateline as received from "our correspondent."

U.N. Comment Withheld.

Ridgway's headquarters said: "There will be no comment until we have received a properly authenticated message."

However, convoy members at the U.N .peace camp were told to be ready at 7 a.m. Sunday (4 p.m. Saturday St. Louis time) to leave for Kaesong on one hour's notice. Among them were the 20 correspondents that Red guards tried to cut out of the convoy Thursday, precipiating the armistice crisis.

The Pyongyang broadcast was recorded by Japanese monitors of Kyodo News Service at 9 p.m. (Saturday). That was 33 hours after the United Nations commander laid down his terms for renewing armistice talks.

Two hours later, Red China's Peiping radio broadcast the English version of the reply by Kim Il Sung, North Korean Premier, and Gen. Peng Teh-huai, Chinese commander. The text follows:

"Gen. Ridgway:

"Your letter dated July 13 has been received. In order to eliminate misunderstanding and arguments over some side questions and to enable the work of peace negotiations to proceed smoothly, we agree to your proposal of fixing the Kaesong area as a neutral zone during the period of the meeting, and that both parties do not carry out hostile acts of any kind within this area, and all armed personnel be excluded from the area of the meeting place and from the routes through which your delegation and ours travel to the area of the meeting place. As to the size of the area of the meeting place and other related concrete questions, we propose that these be left to the delegations of both sides to settle at a single session.

Statement on Reporters.

"With regard to the question of news reporters, which gave rise to the holding up of the meeting, this has nothing to do with the question of the fixing of a neutral zone. Your delegation never raised the question of fixing a neutral zone after your liaison officers raised it once on July eighth but the task of the liaison officers was to discuss questions of detail. They had no power to discuss a question of this nature—a question of fixing a neutral zone.

"The question of news reporters which gave rise to the present suspension of the meeting is a trifling one. It is not worth while suspending the meeting for this, much less is it worth breaking up the meeting for this. Your delegation had raised this question at the meeting. Our delegation at the time considered that the arrival of news reporters of various countries in Kaesong to be inappropriate, as the meeting had not yet achieved any result and even the agenda had not yet been passed. Thus on this question no agreement was reached.

"We insist on the principle that all matters must be agreed upon by both sides before they can be

BRITAIN AND IRAN ALMOST READY TO SOFTEN STANDS, U.S. ENVOY SAYS

Ambassador Grady Predicts Break in Oil Situation After Arrival of Harriman—Denies He Will Leave Soon.

TEHRAN, July 14 (UP)—United States Ambassador Henry F. Grady said today both Britain and Iran were about ready to soften their adamant stands in the costly oil dispute between the two nations.

Grady predicted something may happen after the arrival here tomorrow of presidential envoy W. Averell Harriman.

"The situation is getting ripe for a break," Grady said at a press conference, "but a break on both sides. So far, both the Iranians and the British have said they are 100 per cent right."

The flow of oil from Iran's wealthy fields has been reduced to a trickle because of the impasse created by Iran's nationalization of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. The Iranian Senate met in closed session today to debate the mounting economic crisis caused by the loss of oil revenues.

No Limitations on Harriman.

Grady said there were "no limitations" on Harriman's mission. The roving ambassador has been charged by President Truman to discuss the oil crisis with Premier Mohammed Mossadegh because of the vital importance of Iranian oil to the free world's defense.

Grady called the press conference chiefly to deny reports that his departure from Iran was imminent and that he had been criticized for his efforts to mediate the oil dispute.

He said the White House statement that he had requested his resignation was correct but he did not expect to leave for several months and "maybe longer."

Answering charges that he was about to walk out on the oil crisis, the ambassador said:

"I certainly will not leave here in a manner which will embarrass my government."

Receives "Commendations."

Grady was asked if he had been criticized at all by the State Department in the course of the oil dispute.

"No I have received commendations," he replied.

Grady told newspaper men the "leak" about his retirement came at a "most unfortunate time in the midst of Iran's oil crisis."

The White House released the news that Grady had asked for retirement yesterday when reporters sought confirmation of such rumors.

Meanwhile, pink-cheeked Sir Francis Shepherd, Britain's ambassador to Iran, had a genuinely red face as he explained he would welcome Harriman's trip here after all.

The Ambassador said Thursday at a news conference that he did not see "very much point" to the Harriman visit, since Mossadegh already had rejected the International Court's ruling at the Hague calling for moderation in carrying out Iran's oil nationalization program.

Grady Concerned by Statement.

Grady made no secret of the fact he thought Shepherd's statement would not help any attempt by Harriman to find a solution for the knotty oil problem. Shepherd called on Grady yesterday to explain he really was not against Harriman's visit. There were some reports that Shepherd had received a cable from the Foreign Office in London.

The British Ambassador issued a statement last night saying that some of his news conference remarks yesterday "unfortunately have given rise to a misunderstanding." It added:

"His Majesty's Government appreciate fully President Truman's sincerity in seeking a constructive approach and welcome the interest the United States Government is taking in this problem, which is of concern to the whole world. We all wish Mr. Harriman success in his mission."

$100,000 Chicago Church Fire.

CHICAGO, July 14 (AP)—Fire today caused $100,000 damage at the St. Gregory Catholic Church on the north side. Flames attacked a two-story brick building on the church grounds. The building damaged housed a chapel and cafeteria. A 30-foot steeple was destroyed.

Gen. Ridgway and the U.N. cease-fire delegates were at the Allied "peace camp" in Munsan.

The Red broadcast, while conciliatory, avoided a direct acceptance of any of Ridgway's demands. Observers' first reactions were hopeful that talks could be resumed soon.

Series of Flat Demands.

The U.N. commander had sent the Red chieftains a series of flat demands. His message indicated no intent of negotiation or compromise, although he may have had that in mind.

He messaged them:

"The assurances which I require are few and simple. They include as primary prerequisites the establishment of an agreed conference area of suitable extent completely free of armed personnel of either side. Each delegation must have complete reciprocity of treatment to include complete and equal freedom of movement to, from and within the agreed conference area and complete and equal freedom at all times in the selection of the personnel in its delegation party to include representatives of the press."

He made three more proposals to implement this — a five-mile neutral zone, guard-free roads, a limit of 150 on size of delegations. Then he said:

"If you agree to these proposals the present recess can be terminated and the conference resumed without delay and with some expectation of progress."

From the Communist reply as reported by Tokyo, it will take further negotiations to bring the parties into agreement.

Difference on Press.

Most striking difference of the two viewpoints appeared to be regarding press delegations. The U.N. position was that they should be accepted without question as personnel of the U.N. commander on the theory Ridgway can name anyone he wants.

Reds have insisted all along that the opposing sides should first negotiate on when newspaper men were to be admitted. They still held to that view, but the broadcast conceded, in effect, "OK, send them along as part of your delegation but we don't like it."

The Red proposal for discussion of disputed points opened the way to get armed Communists off the highway over which U.N. representatives drove from their peace camp to Kaesong and to eliminate the Red checkpoint where Red guards determined who should pass.

Barred at Checkpoint.

It was at this check-point, nine miles from Kaesong, that Communists refused to let 20 newspaper men go along with the convoy on Thursday, thus precipitating the crisis.

Guards were posted by the Communists along the highway and in Kaesong itself without consulting the U.N.

Full acceptances of Ridgway's demands would put both delegations on a completely even footing, and remove talk of the Reds playing "host."

As the U.N. Allies had waited throughout Friday night and Saturday for the Communist reply, one Allied authority said:

"We are going to find out whether the Communists really wanted an armistice."

Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander of the United States Eighth Army, paid a surprise visit to the delegation at lunch time. The subject of the discussions was not announced.

Air Blows Stepped Up.

Fighters and bombers stepped up their support of Van Fleet's powerful ground forces.

An Eighth Army officer said if Reds are at full strength on the west central front, they have 200,000 to 220,000 troops. The west central front starts about 25 miles northeast of Kaesong, where armistice talks were held Tuesday and Wednesday.

Lt. Gen. Sir Horace Robertson, commander-in-chief of the British Commonwealth Forces in Korea, who was at the U.N. peace camp, predicted talks would be resumed. He had said he thought Communist commanders would make minor counterproposals to Ridgway's demand, but would accept the U.N. commander's request for complete neutralization of the conference area.

Conditions imposed on U.N. delegates in Kaesong, Robertson said, were such that "progress was impossible."

The Pyongyang radio Friday night charged that the United States is opposing withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea "which means the peaceful settlement of the Korean question."

The broadcast accused the United States of trying to prolong the occupation of South Korea "to use it as a base to prepare for the third world war."

BATTLESHIP IOWA TO BE PUT BACK INTO ACTIVE SERVICE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14 (UP)—The 45,000-ton battleship Iowa will be returned to active service from the reserve fleet at Hunters Point naval shipyard, the Navy announced today.

The Iowa, veteran of World War II in both the Pacific and Atlantic, was decommissioned March 24, 1949, leaving the Pacific fleet without a battleship at that time.

At the time the Iowa was sent to the "mothball fleet" it was estimated it woulud take only a "matter of a few weeks" to get it back into fighting trim.

RED CROSS PREPARES FOOD FOR PRISONERS HELD BY REDS

YOKOHAMA, Japan, July 14 (UP)—The Red Cross prepared thousands of packages today for rush delivery to United States and other United Nations prisoners of war held by the Communists in Korea.

The Red Cross hoped cease-fire talks, if they are resumed, would bring early North Korean agreement for delivery of the packages and contact with the prisoners. Until now the Communists have refused to deal with the Red Cross.

7 AIRMEN KILLED IN CRASH OF BRITISH LINCOLN BOMBER

LINCOLN, England, July 14 (AP)—The whole crew of seven British airmen was killed today in the crash of a four-engined Lincoln bomber which plunged into a pasture and burned.

The Lincoln is Britain's largest piston-engined bomber aside from 70 B-29s given the Royal Air Force by the United States.

It was the second big R.A.F. crash in 36 hours. A twin-engined transport crashed Thursday night, killing all 10 men aboard.

BIG CLEANUP IN GERMAN TOWN

STEDUM, Germany, July 14 (UP)—The 100 inhabitants of this village went on a bathtub spree today.

They were allowed to take as many baths as they wished for the first time in three years, thanks to heavy rains which eliminated water rationing.

U.N. TROOPS SPAR LIGHTLY WITH RED FORCES AT FRONT

Communist Company Near Chorwon Dispersed—French Units Observe Bastille Day.

By STAN CARTER

EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 14 (AP)—United Nations and Red forces sparred lightly today along the 100-mile Korean war front.

In the main ground action, U.N. troops dispersed a Red company northeast of Chorwon on the central front. Patrols maintained light to moderate contact elsewhere.

During the lull in fighting, French U.N. forces observed Bastille day. The celebration was highlighted by inspection of French ranks and award of the Croix de Guerre to American and French soldiers who fought in the bitter battles of Wonju and Chipyong.

Champagne imported from France was served to officers and men after the awards were made.

United States Fifth Air Force warplanes threw 72 early-morning strikes at Red airfields and transportation facilities Saturday. They destroyed or damaged nearly 40 vehicles.

Bad weather reduced air operations during the day and by 6 p.m. only 197 sorties had been flown.

Flying through heavy rain and ground-hugging clouds, a flight of four F-80 Shooting Stars bombed railroad tracks east of Pyongyang, the Red Korean capital. Another flight hit rail installations in the Songchon area.

The Far East Air Force said in its summary covering the 24 hours ending at midnight that two Marine aircraft under operational control of the Fifth Air Force were shot down. Fate of the pilots was not disclosed.

The weekly summary of the Fifth Air Force showed U.N. planes flew 3352 sorties against the Reds in the week July 7 through July 13.

In that period six Russian-made MIG-15 jets were shot down, and five others were damaged.

URANIUM PLANT STRIKE SCHEDULED TO END TODAY

PADUCAH, Ky., July 14 (UP)—The 10-day work stoppage at the Atomic Energy Commission's $500,000,000 uranium seperation plant near here is scheduled to come to an end today.

The F. H. McGraw & Co., major contractor at the plant, notified all employes to return to work under a good faith pact agreed on in Chicago yesterday.

The truce was agreed on whereby some 7000 workers will return to their jobs while the jurisdictional dispute, which closed the plant, is negotiated. The contractor will open negotiations with the AFL International Union of Operating Engineers here today.

BRITISH REQUISITION 2 NEW TANKERS BUILT FOR POLAND

LONDON, July 14 (AP)—Under American pressure, Britain today requisitioned two new oil tankers nearing completion here for Communist Poland.

The Admiralty acted under British defense regulations, a Foreign Office spokesman announced at his daily news conference.

Some weeks ago, the United States protested formally against delivery of the new vessels to the Polish Ocean Lines. The United States regarded the oil tankers as highly-strategic vessels and shipment of strategic goods to Communist countries is barred.

U.S. SEEKS 100,000,000 MORE BUSHELS OF WHEAT IN 1952

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—The Government's goal for wheat production in 1952 is about 1,165,000,000 bushels.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan announced the figure yesterday. He said such production is needed to keep on "the side of abundance."

The 1952 goal Brannan set is about 100,000,000 more than the size indicated for this year's wheat crop.

Rescued Yachtsman Tells How He Killed Shark Nibbling at Toes

By ROY ESSOYAN.

HONOLULU, July 14 (AP)—A yachtsman who killed a shark that "kinda nibbled" at his toes while he bobbed alone in the Pacific was en route to Honolulu today, agreeing with his friends that he's "the luckiest man in the world."

Ted Sierks's friends in Pasadena, Calif., messaged him aboard the U.S. destroyer escort, Douglas A. Munro: "No more poker with anyone having your luck . . ."

Sierks fell overboard from the sloop L'Apache Wednesday during the annual 2225-mile Los Angeles-Honolulu yacht race. Thirty hours later he was picked up by the Munro, which was making one last desperate sweep of the Pacific before heeding orders to abandon the search.

Rescue Just in Time.

The rescue was just in time.

"I was pooped," he said yesterday in a radio interview. "I was falling asleep in my buoy (life-ring). I couldn't keep my balance. I think I owe my life to the whole pattern of things, to the Creator and the Navy."

He told how he killed one of the sharks that bothered him:

"It was after my bare feet. It kinda nibbled on them. I grabbed it by the tail, turned it over and ripped its belly with my knife. . . . the whole thing was over in 20 seconds."

Sierks fended off many other sharks that swam around him.

Several times before he was finally picked up ships passed close without seeing him.

"One ship passed 300 yards from me," he said. "It could not spot me, and it was too far to hail. Another ship turned around and came toward me. Then 200 yards away it, too, turned about and went away.

"I thought this was it. I felt this was a stupid way to leave this world, all so healthy and everything. But I did feel it would take a little time."

"Stupid Mistake."

Sierks said he almost lost his life because of a "stupid mistake."

When he first fell into the ocean while leaning far out over the yacht to repair a broken boom, he was "mad at myself for my stupidity."

He thought t would be only a matter of minutes before L'Apache put about and picked him up. But two hours later the yacht disappeared after he watched it cruising around the area looking for him.

He had no life jacket, but said "someone threw a life ring at me off the stern."

After he was in the water he kicked off his shoes and pants, but kept hold of his sailing knife and a marlin spike.

MOSCOW PRESS ASSAILS PROPOSED JAPANESE TREATY

Calls It 'Aggressive Set-up' Directed Against Liberation Movements in Asia.

MOSCOW, July 14 (AP)—Moscow newspapers today denounced the American draft of a proposed Japanese peace treaty as "an aggressive setup directed against the national liberation movements in South and Southeast Asia." They said the treaty will blow up stormy protests in Asia.

(Philippines Foreign Secretary Carlos P. Romulo said yesterday the draft "filled the Philippine people with disillusionment and dismay" and last night a 15-man presidential committee in the Philippines unanimously rejected the document.)

Izvestia, the Russian government newspaper, said the opinion of (Communist) China and (North) Korea has been illustrated by their official notes to Moscow concerning this "illegally worked out project." It said India's opposition had been explained by the second All-India Congress of Peace Partisans which condemned it in advance.

The paper said public figures and the press in other Asian countries have categorically come out against the proposed treaty.

"The sharply negative" attitude of the Asian people, it said, is because these people suffered most of all from Japanese aggression.

Izvestia said former Japanese officers being released from jail were working on plans for operations in China and for United States operations in Southeast Asia.

The Soviet press took the theme that peace with Japan is impossible without Soviet and Communist Chinese participation.

Newspapers published excerpts from a Shanghai newspaper editorial making this point. The editorial also said the Soviet-Chinese mutual aid pact "will not permit the United States and Japan to materialize their criminal plans to unleash an aggressive war."

It said the peace pact with Japan not only will be legally invalid but will not change the existing situation. It said only unanimous agreement between China, Russia, the United States and Britain could conclude a peace pact and called on all Asian peoples to rise in struggle against the separate peace and against remilitarization of Japan.

Treaty Proposal Rejected as Unacceptable to Philippines.

MANILA, July 14 (AP)—A presidential committee last night unanimously rejected the American draft of a Japanese peace treaty as unacceptable to the Philippines.

The 15-man peace treaty committee said it would have an official reply to the United States ready by Monday.

The Filipinos' greatest objection to the peace draft is that it allows the Philippines no reparations from Japan. They are also vehement against rearming Japan.

The draft "filled the Filipino people with disillusionment and dismay," said Foreign Minister Carlos P. Romulo, former president of the United Nations General Assembly.

Filipinos "have been betrayed by the United States," charged Senator Vicente J. Francisco, leader of one wing of the dominant Liberal party.

Former Supreme Court Justice Claro Recto, leading candidate for the Nacionalista party nomination for President, urged the Philippines to sever all ties with the United States. He was foreign minister of the Japanese puppet government in the war.

Recto said the treaty was the reslult of a "delusion that the Japanese will fight America's battles in Asia" and "an oppressive guilt complex engendered by the massacres at Hiroshima and Nagasaki."

The proposed treaty, Recto said, seems "to be guided by the objective of victory for the enemy and defeat and surrender for the ally."

Japan Reported Agreed on Giving U.S. Naval Base Rights.

WASHINGTON, July 14 (UP)—Japan has agreed on a treaty giving the United States special right at the gigantic Japanese naval base at Yokosuka, diplomatic sources reported today.

Yokosuka, at the mouth of Tokyo bay, is the largest naval base on that side of Pearl Harbor. It can match Pearl Harbor in every task excepting repairing the heaviest warships.

A Japanese-American mutual security treaty is scheduled to be published soon. It will be signed at about the same time that Japan signs a general peace treaty with the United States and all its other World War II enemies except Russia—early in September.

The State Department's Voice of America radio said the new Japanese peace treaty would "thwart one of the main goals of Stalinist imperialism—the exploitation of the human and material resources of Japan."

The Kremlin "has long dreamed of the vast possibilities of a combination, under its direction of the Asiatic powers of the U.S.S.R., China and Japan," the Voice of America said in an overseas broadcast.

For this reason, few postwar problems are of comparable importance to a Japanese peace settlement, the Voice said.

Suspended Diplomat's Testimony Reported to Contradict Chambers

Un-American Unit Head Says O. Edmund Clubb Differs With Former Red Courier on Message Incident.

WASHINGTON, July 14 (UP)—Chairman Wood (Dem.) Georgia, of the House Un-American Activities committee said today that secret testimony of a suspended State Department China expert contradicted a story told by Whittaker Chambers.

Wood also said the State Department has received documentary evidence which may "clarify" differences in the statements of Chambers, confessed former Communist spy courier, and O. Edmund Clubb, director of the State Department's office of Chinese affairs.

Clubb declined comment on Wood's report, but said he may make a statement by Monday.

Clubb and John Paton Davies Jr., of the State Department's top policy planning staff, and other unidentified department employes have been suspended pending an investigation of security charges.

Wood said the committee questioned Clubb on March 14 regarding information furnished by Chambers, whose testimony contradicted that of Alger Hiss and helped send the former State Department aid to prison for perjury.

Waiting for Loyalty Check.

The committee will not act on the Clubb-Chambers testimony, Wood said, until Clubb appears before a State Department loyalty board.

Wood said committee investigations "reflect" that Clubb was the "Oliver Edmund Clubb" who Chambers said came into the office of the Communist magazine New Masses in New York.

Wood said Chambers testified that Clubb at the time was second or third secretary of the United States consulate at Hankow, China, and was carrying a message to one Grace Hutchins. Chambers, then editor of New Masses, said Clubb asked for Walt Carmon, the former editor.

Clubb testified he did not remember visiting the New Masses office during the 1930s. He said that in 1932 or 1937, when he returned from Hankow on leave, he obtained a letter of introduction from Agnes Smedley to Dr. Robert Morss Lovett, University of Chicago professor and former governor of the Virgin Islands.

Identified as Spy.

Miss Smedley, now dead, was identified in an Army report as an American who spied for Russia in the Far East.

"Clubb's testimony," Wood said, "was at variance with the testimony of Whittaker Chambers, which was to the effect that Clubb was carrying a message to Grace Hutchins and not to Robert Morss Lovett."

Wood's statement also involved Far Eastern expert Owen Lattimore and the Institute of Pacific Relations, both under investigation by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

Lattimore, a director of the private research foundation, told newspaper men yesterday that the institute was "never Communist dominated or a Communist front." He spent five hours in a closed session answering questions about the institute's alleged Communist connections.

Lattimore was accused last year by Senator McCarthy (Rep.), Wisconsin, of being Russia's top spy in the United States. A Senate committee found there was no basis to the charge.

Wood said Clubb once notarized an affidavit in which Lattimore swore he had lost or misplaced his United States passport at the headquarters of Teh Wang in Inner Mongolia in 1935. Wood said Teh Wang was then a leader of Communist forces in Upper Mongolia.

However, Lattimore issued a statement today saying Teh Wang "led the only Mongol armed resistance to the Communists."

Other Employes Suspended.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson told a news conference yesterday that additional department employes have been suspended pending new security hearings. He did not say how many. Neither did he identify those involved although it was indicated that none approached the rank of Clubb and Davies.

Acheson said suspension of Davies and Clubb was mandatory under a law which became applicable under the particular circumstances about a month or six week ago. He said those involved in earlier hearings or procedures have not had to be suspended. He said he did not think public disclosure of those suspended was the best way to handle the situation.

He said the department tries not to give out procedural information in these cases, but that when they become known anyhow, it feels it ought to say what the facts are.

It had become generally known among State Department reporters that Clubb and Davies were suspended before the department formally announced it.

Davies has termed the charges—as yet unannounced—malicious, irresponsible and contemptible. Clubb has said he would not comment at this time.

The State Department said suspension carried no implication of guilt pending outcome of security hearings.

TWO PILOTS ABOARD KILLED WHEN B-26 FALLS IN EAST

BOWLING GREEN, Va., July 14 (UP)—A flaming B-26 bomber crashed at the nearby A. P. Hill military reservation late last night, killing the two Air Force pilots aboard.

The bomber, attached to the Forty-seventh bombardment wing at Langley Field, Va., had been on an air-ground support training mission with the Forty-third Division. An instructor and student pilot were the only two members aboard. Identity of the victims was withheld pending notification of next of kin.

FRANCE OBSERVES BASTILLE DAY WITH DISPLAY OF MIGHT

PARIS, July 14 (AP)—France put on its biggest display of military power since the war for its traditional Bastille Day parade today, showing off new tanks and other mobilized weapons.

Military attaches of all nations, on the crowded presidential tribune, saw new 50-ton tanks, with 1000-horsepower motors and mounting 100-millimeter guns on oscillating turrets, a high-speed mobile assault gun of 120 millimeters, 13-ton light tank chasers, rocket-launching ramps, jet-propelled assault boats, and an eight-wheeled reconnaissance car able to travel in either direction at maximum speed.

The new French-made jet fighter Mystere, said to be capable of more than 625 miles an hour, rocketed above the crowd.

President Truman sent "heartiest best wishes and congratulations."

TITO QUESTIONS REDS' SINCERITY IN SEEKING TRUCE

Yugoslav Premier Terms Move a 'Maneuver' in Preparation for Attack Elsewhere.

BELGRADE, July 14 (AP)—Premier Marshal Josip (Tito) Broz doubts Russia's sincerity in seeking an end of the Korean war.

Here, on the fringe of the Iron Curtain with his country under constant pressure from its Soviet satellite neighbors, Tito expressed the belief yesterday that Russia's cease-fire move "is only a maneuver—to calm things down in Korea in order to open fire in another place."

He did not mention the other place by name. It was obvious he was referring to his homeland, which has been engaged for three years now in a bitter feud with the Soviet-dominated Cominform.

Tito spoke before a cheering crowd in ware-devastated Titograd, new capital of Montenegro. The occasion was the tenth anniversary of the partisan uprising against the Axis invaders.

Studied in Russia.

Tito spoke against the background of close experience in dealing with the Kremlin's leaders. He earned his reputation and studied the basic principles of Communism years ago in Russia.

He made these other points:

1. Yugoslavia has begun to receive arms from the West "to defend our country so that nobody can enslave us. We have strong muscles and spirit."

2. "We have not sold ourselves to the West"—contrary to Russian charges. "There are still many people who can understand that a people who gave so many victims for liberty cannot be bought."

3. The situation on Yugoslavia's borders "is even worse" than it was before the discussion of a cease-fire in Korea began. He cited figures on the number of Yugoslavs he said were killed or wounded in frontier incidents.

4. He said Italian "Fascist reactionaries" are carrying on a campaign for the return of the strategic Adriatic seaport of Trieste. But he said that Yugoslavia was unwilling to "trade its population" in an effort to reach an agreement on this issue.

Stalin's Mustache.

As he spoke about the break betwen Yugoslavia and the Cominform three years ago, Tito jibed:

"Stalin is known the world over for his mustache—but not for his wisdom. That is why people did not abandon us."

He contended that the Cominform countries' campaign of "hate, lies, threats and the rattling of arms all along our borders has completely failed. Their policy toward Yugoslavia has collapsed as have other of their policies" as in the case of Korea.

He said that he did not consider any country in the East—barring Yugoslavia of course—a true people's democracy, "not Bulgaria, not Romania, nor Hungary, nor Czechoslavia nor Poland."

"They are under Soviet occupation," he said. "No nation which is not master in its own house can be regarded as a people's democracy."

At present Yugoslavia administers Zone B of Trieste free territory and the Western Allies administer Zone A.

Tito's speech was regarded as an answer to recent Italian statements that Italy might go to the International Court of Justice if the Allies failed to keep their promise of 1948 to return Trieste to Italy.

ADMINISTRATION KEEPS UP FIGHT AGAINST COALITION TO SAVE CONTROLS

Sawyer Broadcasts Warning on Inflation — House Version of Bill Likely Will Be Completed by Thursday.

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—The fight over economic controls continued today with the Administration fighting a rear-guard action against a rampaging House coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats.

Although Congress was in recess until Monday, there was no letup in the Administration's drive to stave off defeat.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer took to the air last night to broadcast a warning that inflation will do the nation great harm "unless we keep controls."

In a radio speech, Sawyer promised that "as soon as controls can be abandoned or alleviated, they will be." But he added: "It is childish to pretend that inflationary pressures are not upon us."

Bill to Go to Conference.

The House version of the bill to extend wage-price-rent controls is expected to be completed by next Thursday. The bill then will go to a House-Senate conference committee for ironing out differences between it and a Senate-passed bill.

The Senate measure reduces President Truman's present powers over the nation's economy and gives him none of the new authority he asked for. The House bill appears certain to be as rough—if not rougher—on the Administration.

Representative Dollinger (Dem.), New York, told the House yesterday that it "is not controlled by Democrats; it is controlled by an unholy alliance of Republicans and Dixiecrats."

Halleck Counter-Charge.

Dollinger's statement drew from Representative Halleck (Rep.), Indiana, the countercharge that Democrats were "playing politics" with controls, and asserted the House has yet to adopt "one single amendment which affects wage or price controls."

As party spokesmen swapped charges of "politics" over the controls action, farm state spokesmen from both parties readied their big guns to kill off price rollbacks when the lawmakers return Monday.

Their immediate target is not only the 10 per cent beef rollback, but all future farm price rollbacks. In addition, a move was in the making to end the Administration's power to roll back the prices of industrial goods.

The House already has barred livestock slaughtering quotas, imports of fats and oils, and farm subsidies—all of which action was backed by farm state members.

LABOR EXPECTS FAIR SHARE OF U.S. INCOME, SPEAKER SAYS

Labor expects to get its fair share of the national income through collective bargaining and by increasing productivity, Hyman Bookbinder of Washington, labor economist for the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, said last night. He spoke at a session of the Economics Workshop at Washington University.

"Those in the ranks of labor make no plea for a particular percentage of the total national income," he said. "However, when three-fourths of the total labor force, made up of those who receive wages and salaries, earn less than two-thirds of the national income they feel they are getting less than their proportionate share.

"Labor expects to get its fair share through a combination of collective bargaining and increasing productivity. Only by increasing the gross national production can labor maintain and improve its relative position."

BODY OF BABY GIRL TAKEN FROM MISSISSIPPI RIVER HERE

The nude body of a baby girl about two months old was recovered today from the Mississippi river just north of Poplar street. It was taken to the morgue.

When first seen, the body was floating in high water beneath the Terminal Railroad Association's elevated tracks on the riverfront.

MAN SEEING SIGHTS IN FLOOD AREA DROWNS

Motorboat Turns Over at Creve Coeur Lake — 4 Others in It Rescued.

Alfred R. Van Hoorebeke, a machinist, was drowned and four companions were rescued when their motorboat capsized in flood waters from the Missouri river at Creve Coeur lake last night.

Van Hoorebeke, his wife, Hazel, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Withers, visitors from Vancouver, Wash., were riding in a boat operated by Elmer Brown, Creve Coeur Lake tavern operator. The group was viewing the flood scene at Fifth and Marine streets at 9:30 p.m. when the boat turned over, throwing the occupants into 12 feet of water.

Deputies reported there were two life preservers in the boat, and these were used by Mrs. Van Hoorebeke and Mrs. Withers. Brown and Withers clung to the overturned craft, but Van Hoorebeke was swept away.

Customers in a water-surrounded tavern heard cries for help and rowed to the rescue of the persons in the water. Van Hoorebeke's body was recovered two hours later by members of the Florissant Fire Department. He was 51 years old and lived at 2342 Wallis avenue, St. Louis county.

A motorboat operated by Brown sank in Creve Coeur Lake, drowning three persons in May 1943. Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Kaemmerer and Mrs. Kaemmerer's daughter, Mary Lou O'Connor, perished when Kaemmerer stood up, rocking the craft, which sank.

A.W.O.L. NAVY MAN LOSES RACE WITH TROOPER IN UPSET

An A.W.O.L. naval airman, who identified himself as William J. Remer, 20 years old, Portland, Ore., was arrested yesterday by the State Highway Patrol when the stolen car he was driving failed to make a curve and rolled over several times in an 80-mile-an-hour chase in St. Louis county.

Trooper John Kiriakos recognized the stolen machine heading west in Manchester road, at Allenton road. He tried to halt the car, but the driver took off in a burst of speed that exceeded 80 miles an hour for the next three miles. Kiriakos, close behind, fired three revolver shots over the machine.

At Manchester and Bassett roads the speeding machine failed to make a curve and rolled over four or five times, throwing Remer out. Kiriakos swerved into a ditch to avoid the wreck. He escaped injury while Remer, who submitted to arrest meekly, was only bruised. Remer said he went A.W.O.L. from the Naval Station at Norfolk, Va., a week ago. He is held for Naval authorities.

The machine was stolen from Herman Brandes, who saw it being backed out of his garage at Clayton and Bopp roads at 4 p.m. The chase and wreck occurred about two hours later.

BUS HITS BRIDGE ABUTMENT; 7 ST. LOUISANS AMONG INJURED

Nine passengers on a Continental Trailways bus, including seven St. Louisans, were injured yesterday when the bus struck a concrete bridge abutment on Illinois Highway 3 about 20 miles north of Cape Girardeau, Mo.

The St. Louis passengers and one other were treated at a Cape Girardeau hospital for cuts and bruises and released. A California woman was held at the hospital for observation.

Cause of the accident was not immediately determined, but it was reported repairs were being made on the road. The bus, en route from St. Louis to Memphis, was carrying 12 passengers.

RUSSIAN SOLDIER GRANTED ASYLUM IN BRITISH ZONE

FRANKFURT, Germany, July 14 (AP)—A Soviet army private who feared to return to his homeland for demobilization has won political asylum in the British zone of Germany, it was announced today.

Pvt. Sergei Inyakin, 23-year-old cobbler, is the fourth Soviet soldier to desert to the British in recent months from a Soviet garrison at Gross-Glienicke on the outskirts of West Berlin, a British statement said.

He fled from a Soviet guard company, complaining that he was "not prepared to return to the conditions awaiting him in the U.S.S.R. after demobilization."

SOAP, SHORTENING WHOLESALE PRICES CUT BY 3 CONCERNS

Wholesale price reductions of 3½ per cent on soaps and detergents and 11 per cent on shortening were announced yesterday by three major soap companies.

The reductions are expected to result in a retail cut of about one cent on a box of soap powder and five cents on a one-pound can of shortening in most chain stores.

The companies making the announcement were Lever Brothers, Proctor & Gamble, and Colgate-Palmolive-Peet. They attributed the reductions to a decline in the cost of fats and oils from which their products are made. There was also evidence that inventories of soap and soap products were becoming topheavy.

7 NEW POLICEWOMEN GETTING MORE PAY, OLDER ONES IRKED

Dissatisfaction exists among older women officers in the crime prevention division of the Police Department because seven newly-appointed young women officers will receive $50 a month more pay than the older ones although performing similar duties, it was learned today.

The seven young women, appointed last week, will hold the rank of probationary patrolman and receive $265 a month salary. They will be assigned to the crime prevention division, following completion of a training course at the Police Academy. The Board of Police Commissioners selected them according to qualifications set up by the board, requiring applicants to be 21 to 35 years old and to have at least two years of college training. Most of the seven are college graduates.

No set qualifications had been proposed when the older women were placed in the police ranks, although some also are college graduates. They receive $215 a month salary. Twenty in number, they were classified as policewomen until last week, when the Police Board reclassified them as police matrons, first-class, in an attempt to clarify the records. They were given no increase in salary.

'WILLIE' HEENEY DIES, CAPONE MAN, FORMER ST. LOUISAN

William (Willie) Heeney, former St. Louisan and member of the Chicago Capone syndicate, died yesterday in Chicago of cancer of the throat.

The former St. Louis pickpocket went to Chicago and achieved the "distinction" of being labeled Public Enemy No. 7 at one time. On his death he was reported to have been the gambling boss of Cicero, Chicago suburb. He was 63 years old.

He was an associate of Paul Ricca, Louis Campagna, Charles Gioe and Philip D'Andrea, convicted Capone gangsters whose easy paroles from 10-year federal prison sentences resulted in a Congressional investigation. Heeney's name figured in the investigation when he was described as a go-between in some of the financial transactions said to have resulted in the paroles.

U.S. IS TRADING GASOLINE TO GERMANY FOR BENZOL

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—The United States is trading 65,000 tons of premium gasoline to Germany for 25,000 tons of benzol.

Benzol is a light oil obtained as a by-product when coal is cooked down to coke. It is in scare supply in the United States, where it is used in making synthetic rubber.

The trade was completed yesterday between the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and Benzol Verband, a German sales association.

VIZCACHA, DINNER DELICACY, IN CANS (IT'S PRAIRIE DOG)

SANTIAGO DEL ESTERO, Argentina, July 14 (UP)—A dinner delicacy, long favored by gauchos on their pampas ranches, is about to be revealed to the world's gourmets.

Business officials disclosed a firm in the provincial capital of Santa Fe is canning vizcacha in quantity for export because of a shortage in Argentine beef.

Vizchaca means prairie dog.

Newsprint Allocation Plan.

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—An international allocation plan for newsprint may be announced Aug. 15. That was the target date set yesterday by a 14-nation committee studying the newsprint supply and demand situation for a 27-nation raw materials conference.

END OF EAST SIDE BUS STRIKE IN PROSPECT

Meeting Called to Sound Out Union Members on Back-to-Work Proposal.

Prospects for an early end of the unauthorized strike of bus drivers of the East St. Louis City Lines, Inc., now in its sixth day, improved today when union officials called a general membership meeting for 2 p.m. tomorrow.

George Rampenthal, president of Local 125 of the AFL Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America, said the meeting would be held at the American Legion Hall, 418A Collinsville avenue, East St. Louis, to sound out sentiment of the strikers on a proposal to return to work.

Company officials have declined to negotiate the grievances that led to the walkout until busses are running again.

If a return to work is voted, garage mechanics would report for work tomorrow midnight and the first busses would start rolling about 3 a.m. Monday, Rampenthal said.

It appeared that most East St. Louisans had made arrangements for private transportation since the strike was called and few cases of hardship have been reported.

The drivers have objected to fast schedules, overloaded busses and to the fact they are required to wear caps, neckties and buttoned shirt sleeves in hot weather.

ST. JOSEPH PETITIONS TO VOTE ON PUBLIC HOUSING CERTIFIED

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 14 (UP)—Petitions calling for a referendum election on public housing were certified by City Clerk Andy Branum here yesterday after Circuit Judge Duval Smith denied an injunction sought by John Jackson to restrain the city clerk.

The city's legal department had advised councilmen that a motion appealing Smith's ruling would have no effect on the council's action.

The council had to repeal the ordinance authorizing the city to go ahead with public housing or order a special election putting the question to a vote. The council instructed city lawyers to draw up the necessary ordinance for the special election which would be held in mid-August.

SPARKMAN FOR USE OF FRANCO FORCES IN EUROPE'S DEFENSE

MADRID, July 14 (UP)—Senator Sparkman (Dem.), Alabama, today urged the employment of Spain's military forces in the defense of Western Europe against Communism.

The Senator, a former member of the United States delegation to the United Nations, spoke to reporters after a one-hour conference with Generalissimo Francisco Franco. He was one of eight United States Senators to meet privately with the Spanish Premier yesterday.

"My personal reaction to the meeting with Franco," Sparkman said, "is rather a feeling of assurance that there is considerable military power here. It could and ought to be utilized in any military defense stand that would have to be made in Western Europe against Communist aggression."

LAND-GRANT SCHOOL FACULTY SALARIES AVERAGE $4500

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—The average faculty salary in the nation's 51 land-grant colleges and universities during the 1949-50 school year was $4500, the United States Office of Education said today.

A report by Survey Statisticain Maude Farr said the median salary for presidents of the 51 land-grant institutions was $14,749, a 40 per cent increase over the average reported for the most recent preceding survey, in the 1941-42 academic year.

The average salary for other ranks, and the increase over the nine-year period: Dean, $7779, a 44 per cent increase; professor, $6132, 43 per cent; associate professor, $4930, 48 per cent; assistant professor, $4085, 56 per cent; instructor, $3202, 72 per cent.

Twin Woe for Prosecutor.

WAYNESVILLE, N. C. July 14 (UP)—The state was presenting its cattle-stealing case against Louie Cochran when it was discovered that Dewey, his twin brother, was on trial. Judge J. C. Rudisill ruled a mistrial.

MISSISSIPPI HERE REACHING SIZE OF 'MAJOR FLOOD'

Now 37 Feet, River Expected to Crest at 38.7 Friday — New Highs Likely at St. Charles.

The rampant Missouri river threatened today to reach new heights at St. Charles, and the Mississippi, rising steadily, was reaching the proportions of a "major flood" in the St. Louis region.

Harry F. Wahlgren, chief of the Weather Bureau here, forecast the Missouri at St. Charles may crest at 37 feet next Friday—highest stage since the record 40.11 set in 1844.

The Mississippi here, now 37 feet, was expected to crest at 38.7 Friday. In revising his forecast, Wahlgren asserted: "This is a major flood in the St. Louis region, but we believe it will not be as bad as the floods of 1943, 1944 and 1947."

30-Foot Flood Level.

Flood level at St. Louis is 30 feet. The river reached 38.9 in 1943, 39.1 in the following year and 40.26 in 1947. All-time high was 41.39 in 1844.

The new forecast for St. Charles would top the 36.4 crest the Missouri reached July 5, when it cut through the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railway embankment north of St. Charles and cut off the eastern part of the county.

At West Alton, near the confluence of the rivers, more than 100 airmen from Scott Air Force base and other volunteers were still fighting to save the levee system upstream from the Lewis and Clark bridges.

The upper Hawkins levee, a half mile west of Highway 99, was topped late yesterday and four additional farms were flooded. Many residents of West Alton, a community of about 300 persons, have placed boats in their front yards as a precautionary measure.

West Alton, ordinarily crowded by fishermen and motorists, was ominously quiet. High water has closed Highway 99 and is eight inches deep for a stretch of nearly a mile near Clark bridge over the Mississippi.

The Burlington railroad announced it had evacuated its North St. Louis yards because of flooding by the Mississippi and rerouted trains ordinarily using the facility to East St. Louis. The water is running over the main line, an official said. Yards south of East Grand avenue were still in use.

Tracks Covered.

Upstream from Alton, the Mississippi has started to cover tracks used by the Illinois Terminal rail bus from Alton to Grafton. Both Elsah and Piasa Chautauqua were reported partly flooded. At Alton, the Mississippi is encroaching on the platform of the Illinois Terminal station at the foot of Piasa street and is over the roadway into Riverside Park.

At Cape Girardeau, high water edged into parts of the city and forced about 12 families to evacuate and forced closing of several business houses.

Flooding of farmlands was reported along the headwaters of the Meramec river, which has reached 19.6 at Valley Park and is rising. Flood level there is 14 feet. The Coast Guard last night moved nine trailers out of a trailer camp on Nellie road in Lemay.

Although weather experts here pointed out the Meramec has not risen as rapidly as had been anticipated, unofficial observers said the river rose 9.8 between 4 p.m. yesterday and 4 a.m. today at Steelville in Crawford county. They expected the crest would not reach St. Louis county until tomorrow night.

Lt. Cmdr. Leslie Haverland, operations officer for the Second Coast Guard district, said a small relief unit has been sent to Napoleon, on the Missouri just east of Kansas City. Other personnel are standing by for possible need on Chouteau island, near Chain of Rocks bridge, and Kaskaskia island.

The Red Cross is caring for 130 persons at its Creve Coeur Memorial Park emergency station, and for 50 persons at Holy Trinity School, 1420 Mallinckrodt street. Tent shelters have been provided for seven families threatened by high water on Reilly avenue, near the 7300 block of South Broadway, and for a family on Fannie avenue, Lemay.

The Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, acting under an emergency section of Regulation W, yesterday lifted consumer credit restrictions for flood sufferers. The action was taken to permit extension of credit to finance replacements and repairs of property damaged by high water.

In the last two weeks the Missouri has inundated more than 65,000 acres in St. Charles and St. Louis counties, causing damage estimated at nearly $5,000,000. The Mississippi has flooded thousands of acres south of St. Louis, and has caused evacuation of homes at scattered points along the waterfront here. Backing up of the River des Peres has caused concern in recent days.

Claxton E. Allen, director of the Office of Price Stabilization in the St. Louis district, announced the OPS would issue emergency beef slaughtering quotas to local packers so that they can process meat to be sent to flood-stricken areas.

The action was decided upon because of the emergency created by flooding of the Kansas City stockyards. All beef slaughtered under the emergency quotas must be sent to the flood-stricken areas.

Communists Here Underground But Active, FBI Secret Aid Says

St. Louis Reds Working Busily for Overthrow of Government, Younglove Asserts.

THOMAS YOUNGLOVE

Communists in St. Louis, although they have gone "underground," are working actively to bring about the overthrow of the United States Government, Thomas A. Younglove, an undercover agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation for four years, charged yesterday.

He addressed Stockham Post 245 of the American Legion at the York Hotel.

"There are about 450 dues-paying Communists and about 1000 sympathizers in St. Louis," Younglove said, "and they are an enemy in our own city. I knew these people so well that I could tell you the names of the books in their libraries, and they are sincere and serious.

"I've sat with them while they plotted distrust and racial friction. They are trained well by their instructors to overthrow democracy. They have no respect either for God or for man-made laws."

Younglove said that while he was a member of the Communist party here, St. Louis was divided into 33 units. He became an FBI informant in 1945, serving as secretary of the trades union group of the Communist party and financial secretary and chairman of his unit. He testified in May 1946, at the trial of 11 top Communist officers.

Younglove, 5217 McCausland avenue, is a concrete and cement contractor. Communists boasted of sponsoring utility strikes and praised him as a "valuable man" because of his knowledge of the city's natural gas system, which they hoped to paralyze in the event of war between Russia and the United States, Younglove related.

He said he believed some students with Communist sympathies are active at Washington University. "Communists in St. Louis right now are stressing getting control of railroads and unions," he charged.

Practice sessions in which St. Louis Communists discussed closing down area industries were held often, Younglove continued. Among industries studied were Monsanto Chemical Co. and Independent Packing Co.

GIRL, 3, DIES OF BURNS; DRESS CATCHES FIRE

Belleville Child's Clothing Ignited by Trash Fire in Back Yard.

A 3-year-old girl, Melinda Sue Neil, died last night in St. Elizabeth hospital, Belleville, as a result of burns she suffered when her clothing caught fire yesterday in the back yard of her home, two miles southwest of Lebanon.

She was playing with her four brothers and a sister when her mother, Mrs. James Neil, kindled a small fire to burn some trash. Thinking the fire was out, Mrs. Neil returned to the house.

She rushed out when she heard screams and found Melinda Sue standing by the fire with her clothes aflame. Mrs. Neil quickly wrapped the girl in a blanket and rolled her on the ground to extinguish the fire, then took her to the hospital, where she died shortly before last midnight. She had been burned all over her body.

GIRL'S BODY FOUND; REPORTED KIDNAPED BY STEPFATHER

NEWHALL, Calif., July 14 (AP)—The body of a young woman tentatively identified as Betty Jean Hanse, 20 years old, reported to have been kidnaped by her stepfather, was found in a ravine near here last night. The stepfather is Frank W. Kristy, 48-year-old house painter.

Sheriff's deputies reported finding a cigarette lighter bearing the initials "F.W.K." near the woman's body. They said the woman was wearing a wrist watch initialed "B.J.H." Determination of the cause of death cannot be made until an autopsy, officials added.

Kristy is charged with kidnaping the girl while holding his wife, Margaret, 38, at bay with a pistol July 5. Mrs. Kristy quoted him as saying: "I'm going to drive about 10 miles. Then I'm going to turn the car over to Betty and kill myself."

Definitely Not His Lucky Day.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., July 14 (UP)—At Carl Luckey's Friday the thirteenth court appearance he was found guilty of drunken driving and driving without a license and was sentenced to 10 days in jail and fined $40 and costs. His license was suspended for six months. Taken to jail, he brought the number of prisoners there to 13.

TAX ON AMUSEMENT COIN MACHINES IS VETOED IN ILLINOIS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 14 (AP)—A bill to allow city councils to tax coin-operated amusement machines for revenue was vetoed yesterday by Gov. Adlai Stevenson. He said Attorney General Ivan A. Elliott advised him the bill was unconstitutional.

Applying to pinball, shuffleboard, bowling and similar devices, the measure was sponsored by Senator William Knox (Rep.), Chicago.

Elliott said the machines provide "the possibility that the player may, upon obtaining certain scores or results, win or gain a free game or free use of this machine."

He said such machines have been ruled gambling devices and quoted the appellate court of the second district as saying:

"It is also common knowledge that the machine itself is sometimes used by players to determine who shall buy the drinks or pay for refreshments, cigars or lunch and when so used it is a gambling device within the meaning of our statute."

Elliott said the bill is, "in effect, an attempt to amend the criminal code" without following constitutional requirements.

BOY, 7, ORGANIZES CIRCUS, MAKES $65 FOR CANCER GIFT

More than $65 was obtained for the Miriam Cancer Gift and Loan Closet at a circus organized by Alan Barker, 7 years old, in the back yard of his home, 6604 Pershing avenue, last night.

Games, refreshments, attendance prizes and fortune-telling were offered 175 patrons. The Miriam Cancer Closet supplies needed articles to anyone suffering from cancer, and is at the American Cancer Society, 3720 Washington avenue.

KILLED WHEN HIT BY TRUCK; DRIVER DOES NOT STOP

Man Was Crossing Easton at Compton—Witness Gets License Number, Arrest Follows.

Charles E. Williams, Negro laborer, was killed last night when struck by a truck as he crossed Easton avenue at Compton avenue. The driver, who did not stop, was arrested by police later.

A witness driving east in Easton turned and followed the truck after it struck Williams, obtaining the license number. Police traced the number and arrested a man who identified himself as Cecil House, 4253 Page boulevard.

House, a Negro, booked suspected of manslaughter and feloniously leaving the scene of an accident, told police he saw a man stepping off the north curb of Easton, but was unaware his truck had struck him.

Williams, 23 years old, lived at 4942 Page.

Two St. Louis area school teachers and a New York salesman were seriously injured yesterday in a three-way collision on U.S. Highway 66 near Tyson Park, St. Louis county.

The school teacher sisters, Miss Edna and Miss Gertrude Cleveland, 4503 McPherson avenue, were driving west, with Miss Edna at the wheel, when they collided head-on with an automobile driven by Morton Gluckman of the Bronx, New York. Almost immediately thereafter a truck driven west by Louis Mueller of Pacific crashed into the rear of the Cleveland automobile.

Miss Edna Cleveland suffered chest injuries and multiple cuts of her face while her sister suffered compound fractures of both legs. Both were taken to Jewish Hospital. Gluckman suffered a broken nose. Mueller was not hurt.

Miss Edna Cleveland is a teacher in the Hancock Schools. Her sister is at McKinley High School.

REPORTS HE WAS SLUGGED, ROBBED OF $50 AND WATCH

Walter Frazer, 7617 South Broadway, was slugged and robbed of $50 and his wristwatch, valued at $27, early today by two Negroes who accosted him near his home, he reported to police.

Frazer said he had alighted from a Broadway streetcar at South Broadway and Courtois street and was walking to his home when the men stopped him. One carried a hard object, which Frazer thought was a length of pipe. The man struck him in the face with the weapon, he reported.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

Shaw Park's Withdrawal

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The withdrawal by the city of Clayton of the Shaw Park facilities from general use is another indication that Americans are still unable to face the important issues of the day.

The published reason for this change is that Shaw Park is becoming overcrowded and the residents of Clayton are unable to fully enjoy its recreational facilities.

Is this the real reason for this change of policy? I doubt it. It is very obvious that this is just another way to continue racial segregation in our community.

I have been swimming several times this season at Shaw Park and, although there were Negroes in the pool, did not notice any unpleasant situations nor was my enjoyment lessened because of them. As a matter of fact, I have been complimenting Clayton on its unbiased policy.

On July 1 United Nations Statesman Dr. Ralph J. Bunche told the N.A.A.C.P. convention in Atlanta, "In our design for democratic living by a free people we have something compelling for all peoples. But we must first demonstrate that this design can be applied to people of all colors."

All freedom-loving Americans will long remember these words by one of our great living Americans.

Claytonians would not like to think of the wonderful facilities of Forest Park being denied them or other nonresidents of St. Louis, nor would they like to think of the consequences if West End St. Louisans decided that Clayton is too exclusive a place in which to shop.

Let us not forget that we are all friends and neighbors in metropolitan St. Louis and that we cannot set up artificial barriers of any kind if our community is to prosper.

Jobs for Women

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

These days we hear a lot of comment on old age and the ways to help oldsters live on their small pensions. Usually this concerns men—everyone seems to overlook the fact that women are in a far more critical situation than men are.

If a man loses his position when he is around 50 he generally gets some other work. When women lose theirs and their grey hair and wrinkles appear no one wants to employ them any more. Widows are in the same sad state of affairs.

One can understand the employers' point of view, for these women have generally lost all contact with the business world, if they had any at all.

These conditions exist in all kinds of employment—office workers, home help, household help, nurses—everyone suffers from them.

So women at that age have to sit and wait and starve until they reach the ripe old age of 65 to receive their Social Security pensions, often their only income for old age. It would be humane and fair to lower to 50 the age at which women are eligible for social security pensions.

Rap at Citizens' Committee

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

A great many St. Louis county residents who ride public transportation are undoubtedly wondering just who is on the Citizens' Committee on Mass Transportation.

This group in a recent report advocated that the St. Louis Public Service company withdraw from all routes in the county to allow the St. Louis County Transit company to make more money.

It is hard to understand how a "citizens'" committee would advocate a measure that would make many people pay double fares to get to work or downtown to shop.

Even with Public Service running express service, those who now have a choice of taking either express or regular busses would be forced to pay extra fares on the express lines.

It is too bad that the County Transit company isn't making money, but why force thousands of county residents to help the company out?

The public should be considered—not the transportation concerns.

The St. Louis Public Service company shows more contempt each day for its customers, with poorer service through fewer busses. It's about time John Q. Public had his say, and his comfort considered a little more.

If all the stockholders of Public Service, who probably haven't been on a bus or street car for years, were forced to ride to and from downtown at rush hour, there might be some changes made.

DISGRUNTLED.

Transit Radio "A Menace"

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Friday evening I read "The Mirror of Public Opinion" with a great deal of interest. This article concerning Transit Radio and its exploitation of streetcar and bus riders is to be greatly commended.

This sort of infringement upon people's private rights to travel to and from business with little rest and relaxation should surely be discontinued as quickly as possible. I have a great deal of respect and admiration for those who have given and are still giving their time and effort toward abolishment of such a menace in all cities where it exists.

An Expanded Air Force

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, a frontline veteran of World War II, told a Senate subcommittee yesterday that the Air Force should be increased from its present 87 groups to 150 with a major part earmarked for defense of Western Europe. He declared that "massive" tactical air support was "utterly indispensable" for the planned 60-division Atlantic Pact army. This proposal brings up major financial and manpower considerations which Congress and the Defense Department will have to weigh carefully.

At least there is no quarreling this time among Army, Navy and Air Force over sharing the defense dollar. As Marquis Childs said in his column, the Air Force "is expected to have the backing of Gen. Bradley" and the three Joint Chiefs of Staff. This probably is due to the fact that the Army and Marines have been strong advocates of tactical air power, which consists largely of fighter planes for close-up support of ground troops and for command of the sky over battle areas.

For all the Atlantic pact nations, there are only 10 ground divisions and a smattering of tactical air power in Western Europe now. It takes about one tactical air group to support each division. Certainly the United States could do no less than to see that each division that is put down in Europe gets its air umbrella.

A good indication of the increasing appreciation of tactical air power comes from a dispatch by Joseph Harsch, chief of The Christian Science Monitor's Washington Bureau. He told this week of "a growing conviction at the Pentagon that American air power must be expanded more and faster than has been contemplated if the western world is to maintain anything like an equal position with Russia." He emphasized that:

> The basic fact behind the new thinking is that Russia is far ahead of the western powers in tactical air and until this disparity can be removed, Russia retains the physical power to obtain air superiority in any war.

The menace of Russia's tactical air force has been overshadowed by more frequent reference to its massed ground forces. The two go hand in hand. This was well demonstrated when tactical air power established itself in World War II. But tactical air was neglected after the war, except in our Marine Corps and Navy aviation. Strategic bombing, which broke Germany's war potential by smashing her factories, got the play in this country from 1945 to 1950.

After the Korean war began, tactical air power came back in short order. During the early months, Marine Corps and Navy aviation ran away with the close-up air support show. The Communist planes have given our ground troops no trouble, thus far.

But the thought of Russian air superiority working its will on Western divisions brings back pictures of the havoc in World War II when German planes shot up our troops in North Africa. Not since then have our troops suffered heavily because the enemy had air superiority. They would suffer far worse if they lacked sufficient tactical air to protect them on the flat plains of Western Europe.

The grimness of this situation backs up the words Secretary of the Air Force Finletter used when he told the House Armed Services Committee: "It is my conviction that, in the event of an armistice our efforts should be to increase the military establishment, and I can think of no better move in the event of such an armistice than to increase the striking power of our defense establishment."

Disgrace in Cicero

The race rioting in the Chicago suburb of Cicero was the result of a breakdown in law enforcement at the municipal level where it is most important. True, order was restored by the militia sent to the scene by Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois.

It is in the nature of things, however, that state troops cannot be expected on the scene of a disturbance until it has gotten beyond the control of local authorities. Ninety-nine per cent of law enforcement rests on them. And in Cicero they simply did not take action commensurate with their responsibility.

The Governor deserves praise for prompt intervention, but the damage occurred none the less. And what a nice bit of propaganda it supplies for the Communist mills.

Legalized Character Assassination

More and more members of Congress are ashamed of how some of their associates have been slandering innocent citizens. And at least one of them wants to put a stop to such abuses of congressional immunity as, for example, the case of Mrs. Anna Rosenberg whose good reputation was shamefully dragged through the mud before she was confirmed as Assistant Secretary of Defense.

Senator Lester C. Hunt has introduced two measures to check McCarthyism. One of these would repeal that part of Section 6 of Article 1 of the Constitution which makes members of Congress immune from libel suits for all statements made in the conduct of Congressional business. The other bill is an alternative. If Congress will not require personal responsibility, then the Wyoming Senator wants it to authorize suits against the Government by defamed persons just as suits are now authorized in cases involving contracts or torts.

The immunity clause was carried over from the English law into the Constitution to protect the legislature against an autocratic executive, and it was intended to be valid only within the halls of Congress. But as Senator Hunt says, "as construed today, it is applicable to speeches which are never made before Congress, but which are written or adapted by members as extensions of imaginary remarks and circulated throughout the country in the Congressional Record." The privilege has also been extended to committee reports and committee hearings so that unscrupulous legislators can take advantage of it almost anywhere.

At the same time, as Senator Hunt says, it exposes their victims to double jeopardy. Not only are they tried before a committee or subcommittee—often without anything like a real chance to refute the charges, but they also may be tried again in a court of law. And there is the concomitant trial by press and radio.

Senator Hunt shares our respect for the congressional power of investigation. But he does not believe that a limitation on the immunity privilege would prevent the exposure of corruption and crime. Moreover, there is a vast difference between the contemporary name-callers and the great investigators in the Senate—the late Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana comes to mind—who respected facts and reputations.

Certainly, a fair measure of latitude must be preserved for investigations. It should not be impossible, however, to draw a line between a well-intended question and a malicious accusation. And if the false accusation is made, surely there must be redress for its victim.

Senator Hunt's proposals put the issue before Congress. Many citizens who are not ready to limit congressional immunity are ready to hear the bills of the Wyoming Senator discussed. Let the objections become part of a public debate which will inform the people.

A Puzzling Assessment

Mayor Darst's amazement is well taken. The Mayor is amazed to learn that the State Tax Commission has reduced the tax assessment for St. Louis public utilities for the second year. He cannot figure out why tax valuations should go down at a time of general inflation and rapid expansion of utility services.

Many citizens will not be able to get the point, either. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, for example, is now before the Public Service Commission with a request for a rate increase. Bell tells the commission it needs the increase, for one reason, because it spent $22,000,000 last year on additional operating equipment.

It is reasonable to believe that a substantial slice of this sum went for equipment in St. Louis. Yet when the company's St. Louis property comes to be assessed by the state for tax purposes, the valuation is reduced by $360,000.

Since taxes began, which must have been about the time man first walked upright, property has tended to shrink in value when the tax collector was near, and to become precious beyond price when its owner figured the revenue he was entitled to collect on it. Some divergence between tax valuations and actual valuations is perhaps inevitable, or at least well-entrenched. Still, it is a little hard to understand why that divergence should be widened just at this particular time.

The Mayor has ordered an investigation, and we wish it bon voyage. How the State arrives at the conclusion that St. Louis public utilities are less valuable now than they were a year ago should prove interesting.

No Law on Lobbies?

Investigators of the Missouri House lobby committee are hunting around St. Louis truck docks for a mysterious Mr. X—the man who Gov. Smith told him about a truckers' lobby meeting. The committee itself has recessed for a month. So this is a good time to consider another mystery—the fact that Missouri has no effective law to regulate lobbyists.

These high pressure operators have swarmed over Jefferson City for years, handling fat expense accounts, button-holing legislators, contributing to campaigns here and there. Yet nobody knows the facts about these largely hidden operations, especially not the public.

Missouri once did have a lobby regulation act. This law required lobbyists to register and report funds and expenses, so people could know what they were up to. Missouri was one of the earlier states to try to control lobbying by publicity.

In 1919, however, the State Supreme Court invalidated this law, because the title of the act did not describe its purpose. Thus the lobbyists were pushed back behind their secret veil by a technicality, and not by any lack of authority to control them.

Since then there have been various unsuccessful efforts to pass regulatory statutes. A relatively mild bill got nowhere in the 1949 session even though it was introduced for Gov. Smith. These repeated failures by the legislators to control the lobbyists are one good indication of the power of the lobbies. They do not want to be controlled, or even publicized.

Yet if the Missouri Legislature is ever to cut itself free of the influence peddlers and pushers, it will have to begin with an effort to report their activities. That means a lobby regulation law. By passing such a law the legislators will indicate that they do not consider themselves responsible to lobbies, but to the public which elected them.

One Job for a China Lobby Probe

Whether or not there is an investigation of the China lobby at Washington will depend largely on "the amount of energy and determination" President Truman can "infuse into his immediate circle," Doris Fleeson writes.

If the President can manage it, all well and good. But an investigation should not be allowed to go by default, regardless of what the President does. Congress has an interest and a responsibility here, too. As the Post-Dispatch said a year ago, the country needs more light on this shadowy force.

One of the practical ways in which an investigation could be helpful legislatively has to do with the defects in the Foreign Agents Registration Act. These defects have been shown up glaringly with respect to the registration of agents of Nationalist and Communist China.

Some of them are just such defects as have shown up in the Regulation of Lobbying Act. In each of these measures there are ambiguities and downright loopholes that make the reporting of receipts and expenditures considerably less meaningful than they should be. Specifically in the case of the Foreign Agents Act the publication Congressional Quarterly says in an exhaustive report entitled "The China Lobby: A Case Study:"

> Their records fail to disclose a precise account of the money spent to propagandize the two China governments in this country. Some China agents report only salaries, others commissions, fees and expenses. Still others account for income and expenditures, and in the case of a corporate agent assets and liabilities are reported. This variety of accounting methods is apparently permissible under the Registration Act.

Another weakness of the Registration of Foreign Agents Act lies in its exemption of "private, nonpolitical, financial, mercantile or other activities in furthering bona fide trade."

There are increasing activities in the United States by firms which are wholly or partly subsidized by foreign governments. They are partly commercial, and to that extent eligible for exemption from registering, at the same time that they are partly political, and to that extent included among those required to register.

The Justice Department is called upon to resolve the dilemma and decide upon which side of the fence every specific firm should fall, but the Attorney General has found this exemption clause a major problem in administration of the act.

Investigation of the China lobby need not and should not be a punitive expedition. There is bona fide work to be done. Whether by the executive department or by Congress, it should be performed.

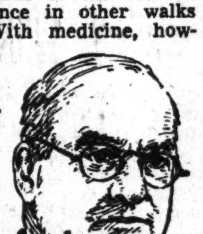
Fee-Splitting, Medicine's Disease

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Graft became problem in doctor's profession with rise of specialization, St. Louis physician wrote years ago; though a minority divides fees, this injures everyone; professional man might just as well demand rebates from the hospital, the druggist and the undertaker.

John C. Morfit, Former President, in an Address to the St. Louis Medical Society in 1906



Dr. Morfit

It is not surprising that graft should be present in the ranks of our beloved profession. Its existence in other walks of life is ancient. With medicine, however, it seems to have become a matter for consideration only since specialism has become so universal.

Now we all know that in our own community of St. Louis this practice exists, and whether we admit it or not; whether we prefer to disclose it or not, the evil is with us. There are some men undoubtedly who are addicted to this practice, but I believe they are in the very small minority. However, the practice is too prevalent and the fair name of our profession is tremendously injured.

Why should dear old family Dr. A. expect a specialist, Dr. B., to part with any portion of his fee? Is A.'s lack of moral courage and business sagacity to be compensated for out of the specialist's pocket?

No Excuse for Pay-Off

Has specialist B. so little confidence in the value of his own results and in his conscientious endeavor to do the right thing towards his patients that he cannot depend on his professional skill and reputation alone to increase his business, that he must needs feel called upon to pay his general practitioner friend any portion whatsoever of the remuneration due him and him alone?

Carry the case a little further: If specialist B. does pay Dr. A. a percentage of the fee, why should he not look around and endeavor to reimburse himself for the expense he has been put to, to get his patient?

Why should he not make arrangements with the model hospital to get a proportion of the income said hospital obtains from the patient he sends there? That would help out considerably, and the longer he kept the patient there, the more it would help out.

Or suppose this patient, a stranger from the country, should remain in the hospital long enough to prove a dead failure to the specialist, why should not specialist B. recommend to friends of the deceased an undertaker whose good services he would be willing to guarantee?

And why should not this undertaker pay specialist B. a good round percentage of his total, since specialist B. was kind enough to recommend the undertaker as a man who could do for his erstwhile patient what he had neither the training nor the inclination to do?

Another source of income might also be invoked: Why should not specialist B. have a remunerative understanding with his druggist?

A Principle of Ethics

I do not mean to imply that the physician has nothing to do with the specialist's charges. The specialist, as a rule, knows nothing about the ability to pay of the patients referred to him. It is right and proper that he should be guided in his fees by the information furnished him by the family physician, provided he be a man of integrity.

But neither the specialist nor the physician should suggest or assume either directly or indirectly, the one to the other, the financial responsibility which naturally and rightly belongs to the patient.

In the principle of medical ethics, Section 4, Article 6, is found:

"It is derogatory to professional character for physicians to pay or offer to pay commission to any persons whatsoever, who may recommend to them patients requiring general or special treatment, or surgical operation. It is equally derogatory to professional character to solicit or receive such commissions."

The St. Louis Medical Society has the right, and I believe it is its duty, to take some definite action in this matter.

Practices such as I have outlined should be stifled in their incipiency. When we accomplish this we will have more respect for ourselves and inspire more respect from the public.

I realize fully that I have touched here on only one phase of graft in medicine. I have done this because I believe this is the more serious phase, and one which, in St. Louis at least, results in the greatest injury to the profession as a whole.

Labor in the Cold War

From The New York Times

The side that wins the trade unions throughout the free world may win the "cold war." At least, one can be sure that the democratic forces will never prevail if, on the whole, labor is won over to the Communist side.

For that reason it would be well for all of us to turn an anxious but hopeful eye toward Milan, Italy, where the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions has been meeting.

The struggle is not new, but it has reached a critical point. As labor unions became important toward the end of the nineteenth century there was a reaction against Marxist leadership by the so-called Christian trade unions which responded to the Vatican's lead. Then, after the First World War, the Communists split the Marxist movement with their Third International.

In the uneasy and unnatural fraternization of the Second World War the great experiment of the World Federation of Trade Unions was tried. It failed, as it had to, in the post-honeymoon period when the Communists worked to dominate it completely from Moscow and to make it an instrument of Russian imperialism and Communist revolution. The W.F.T.U. is today an arm of the Cominform.

The decisive break came in 1949, but unfortunately the non-Communist trade unions could not unite. The International Federation of Christian Trade Unions has chosen to make its own separate fight against the common enemy. The A. F. of L. and the C.I.O. could be helping the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions movement more energetically than they do, especially the C.I.O.

The I.C.F.T.U., with more than 50,000,000 members, is predominantly social-democratic on the European side. So, in vital countries like France and Italy, one sees the main labor union bodies dominated by the Communists, with the Catholic unions and the moderate socialists forming separate organizations.

All the same, there are reasons for great satisfaction. In most countries Communists have been driven from leadership of the big unions, and almost everywhere their hold has been weakened.

This means that the Communists are being driven into their hedgehog tactics of forming cores of trained militants and saboteurs that will always be dangerous.

The free unions have a double task—on the negative side, to fight Communism or (as in Argentina, the Dominican Republic and Spain) fascism; on the positive and more important side, they must fight for a higher standard of living, especially in Asia and Africa, if the victory against totalitarianism is to be permanent.

Between Book Ends

Birth of a Country

QUIET STREET, by Zelda Popkin. (J. B. Lippincott Co., 382 pgs., $3.50.)

Charles Angoff in the Saturday Review of Literature.

Zelda Popkin

When on May 14, 1948, David Ben-Gurion announced to the world the establishment of the State of Israel the latest and certainly the most romantic miracle in political history had become hard, tangible, visible, incontrovertible fact for all to behold. Nothing remotely like it had ever happened before. No other cultural religious entity after nearly two thousand years of almost incredible persecution including the murder of 6,000,000 — nearly half — of its adherents had ever before been revived. World opinion, as expressed through the United Nations, voted the new state into existence and wished it well, but it must not be forgotten that that same opinion had been molded, instructed, and nourished by a group of Jewish idealists who for long had been laughed at not only by "outsiders" but by large elements of their own people.

This grand theme calls for art of the highest order. Perhaps the present generation is too close to it to be able to view it under the aspect of the immemorial values; certainly three years after the event is too soon to expect anything of major importance commemorating the event—in music, in the drama, in poetry, in prose fiction. Zelda Popkin, no doubt, would be the last to make extravagant claims for her novel about the heroism of the refugees and the sabras (native Israelites) in the bloody days before May 14, 1948, and for many months afterward. "Quiet Street" is more feature-story journalism than tender, penetrating, imaginative fiction.

But Mrs. Popkin has managed to transmit to the reader much of the devotion, courage, agony, and glory of the early days of Israel. Two of the leading characters, Edith Hirsch and her physician husband, Dr. Jacob Hirsch, both coming from Boston, will be remembered for the nobility with which they make their sacrifices—including a daughter, Dinah, who is killed in line of duty in a Negev army camp. Dinah herself is portrayed with considerable understanding, as is her American friend, Al Brody, who volunteers his services to the Israeli air force. Some of the battle scenes and hospital scenes, while crude and overdone here and there, are quite moving. But the English soldiers and civil servants are little more than cardboard characters, and the use made of contemporary events is far from skillful.

The over-all impression of "Quiet Street," however, is pleasant. Mrs. Popkin displays few of the qualities of the gifted novelist, but she writes from knowledge and with warmth, love, and compassion.

The American Indian Speaks

CRY OF THE THUNDERBIRD, edited by Charles Hamilton. (Macmillan Co., 262 pgs., $4.)

More than 50 Indian authors and half as many tribes are represented in this collection of 100 tales dealing with massacres, battles, buffalo hunts, horse stealing raids, medicine men, burnings at the stake and other phases of the Red Man's day. Chief Kahkewaquonaby of the Ojibways tells how wizards and witches work their spells. An anonymous Winnebago passes out advice on getting married. Black Elk describes a Sioux courtship. Chief Plenty Coups, a Crow, discusses with deadly naivete the "character" of the white man. Geronimo gives his impressions of the St. Louis World's Fair. Chief Blackbird accuses the British of practicing germ warfare against the Ottawas in the seventeenth century. Both young and old should find this a most useful book of information as well as one chock-full of adventure.

DOUBTS VALIDITY OF GIVING JUDGES SENTENCING DUTY

Bar Group Says Proposal to Change Law May Go Against Missouri Constitution.

Doubt as to the constitutionality of a proposed criminal law reform that would give to the judge rather than the jury the right to fix sentence in criminal cases was expressed by a special committee of the Bar Association of St. Louis in a report made public today.

The committee report, which has been adopted by the Bar Association, dealt with a series of criminal rule changes proposed by a committee of the Missouri integrated bar. The proposals are being submitted to the state's 6000 lawyers for discussion and recommendation before the State Supreme Court takes action on them. The reforms could be put into effect by an edict of the Supreme Court.

In its report, the local bar committee, headed by Bryan Purteet and A. Clifford Jones, agreed by a vote of 4 to 3 that the rule change taking sentencing power from the jury would be desirable but the committee was similarly split on the question of its constitutionality.

Rule Changes Barred.

It is pointed out in the report that the 1945 Constitution bars any rule changes that alter the law relating to juries or the right of trial by jury.

Doubt also was expressed by the local committee on whether the proposed abolition of the writ of error as a method of securing appellate review of a criminal decision is valid. While a majority of the committee felt the proposed change was a procedural matter only and thus within the power of the Supreme Court, other members expressed the opinion it would change a substantive right and thus be prohibited by the Constitution.

A proposed change in the law relating to searches and seizures was criticized by the local committee. That change would authorize issuance of a search warrant if a complaint stated that the premises contained personal property "designed or intended for use or which is being or has been used as a means or instrumentality for the commission of any criminal offense * * *."

Interference With Rights.

The change would interfere with substantive rights of the property owner, and its language is so broad as to be exceedingly dangerous, the reported stated.

The proposed rule changes attempt to tighten up procedures relating to bail bonds. The St. Louis group expressed some concern that in doing so, the changes may interfere with the ready obtaining of bail.

In an appendix, the committee states that since Jan. 1, 1943, there have been only 18 bond forfeitures totaling $26,500 in the six division of the circuit court and the two divisions of the court of criminal correction here. Noting that these now have been reduced to nine forfeitures involving $15,000, the report said the situation was quite satisfactory. The implication was that insofar as St. Louis was concerned, the proposed bond reforms were not needed.

The report has been forwarded to the Missouri Supreme Court.

PLAYWRIGHT BOWS TO JEERS, CRITICS, WITHDRAWS PLAY

LONDON, July 14 (AP)—New Orleans playwright Charles Lincoln last night bowed to jeers—for which he blamed the Communists—and scathing reviews. He withdrew his play, "Storks Don't Talk," after a riotous three-night run.

Producer Ellen Pollock said last night's audience of 400 "had a jolly good evening, but adverse criticism has killed the play." The cast, headed by movie actor Mischa Auer, showed no enthusiasm for a suggestion by Lincoln that it take salary cuts to keep the play running.

The playwright said the Communists had read in the British press of his "active anti-Red record while I was serving with the State Department in Berlin" and helped to give his play a bad name by jeers and jibes on opening night.

93 KILLED IN JAPANESE FLOOD

TOKYO, July 14 (UP)—Police said today that at least 93 persons were killed, 349 injured and 114 missing as a result of the heaviest rains to hit western Japan in 10 years.

New squalls hit Kyushu and western Honshu today while rivers on Shikoku island flooded wide areas and disrupted communications.

Floods Receding at Kansas City

was under water, and officials were seeking new means of disposal.

The low water pressure in city mains brought serious fire problems, and extra precautions were being taken to safeguard against fires.

Firemen fought a fuel tank-farm fire throughout the night in a flooded two-block area. The fire began yesterday. Nine firemen were injured, seven buildings were destroyed and two others damaged.

About 20 tanks containing a total off 500,000 gallons of gasoline, diesel oil and naphtha exploded at intervals. The firemen struggled in shoulder-deep water, in boats and from rooftanks to keep the flames from two other nearby tank farms.

The fire was touched off by a floating 6000-gallon oil tank that struck an electric power line.

Among the buildings destroyed by the fire was the Last Chance tavern, the last spot where the late Charles Binaggio, political leader, was seen alive before his gangland-style murder more than a year ago.

Kansas Hard Hit.

Cities and towns in eastern and central Kansas were hard hit by floods, too.

Towns under water or partly flooded include Topeka, Lawrence, Manhattan, Great Bend, Iola, Salina, Norton, Ottawa, Osawatomie, Junction City, Chanute and Perry, Strong City, Florence and Marion.

At Topeka, the state capital, more than 20,000 of the 100,000 resident were homeless. The raging Kansas river washed out bridges connecting north and south Topeka. Among them was a railroad bridge weighted down with 10 locomotives. Many of the engines were lost.

In eastern and central Kansas where some communities have been battling floods for a month, high waters swept into new areas.

At Great Bend, a central Kansas town with 13,000 population, the Arkansas river broke through a dike spilling water into the south part of the city.

8-Foot Wall of Water.

Police raced through the area, sounding their sirens as a warning to evacuate. An eight-foot wall of water surged through a 20-foot breach in the dike. There was no reports of casualties. Refugees were being housed in the city hall.

In Topeka some persons were still sighted aboard rooftops by Air Force planes. Coast Guard crews have boats in the area.

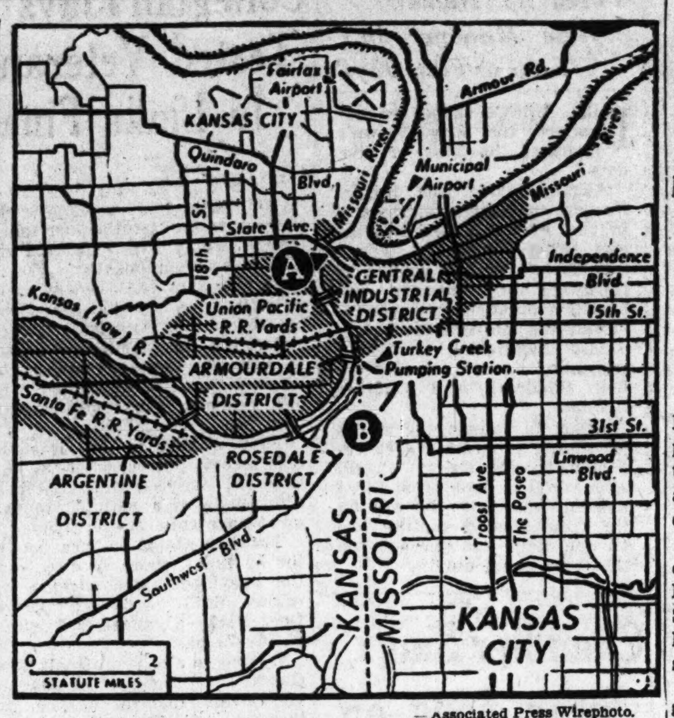
The Kansas river was reported dropping at Manhattan, one of the hardest-hit towns. More than 1000 evacuees have been innoculated against typhoid. Hundreds of blankets were being dropped by Air Force planes for the homeless.

Flood waters were carrying away some houses in Lawrence, site of the University of Kansas. A motor launch was used yesterday to evacuate 30 persons isolated in a North Lawrence school.

At Iola, Kan., 200 persons—more than one-fourth the town's population—have been evacuated. Both the power and water plants are out of operation.

Rescue operations in the devastated areas are being carried on around the clock by Coast Guard boats, helicopters, amphibious planes and private craft.

Air Force planes are dropping food, clothing and other essentials to isolated communities.



—Associated Press Wirephoto.

Shaded areas indicate the districts in Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City, Kan., most heavily damaged by the Kansas river flood. Intercity Viaduct (A), two-mile span high above water, is only one open between the cities. Fire added to the trouble when gasoline bulk station (B) exploded and burned.

TRAIN PASSENGERS STRANDED 48 HOURS IN FLOOD EVACUATED

NEWTON, Kan., July 14 (UP)—Three hundred and sixty-five passengers from the flood-bound El Capitan, Santa Fe's de luxe coast-to-coast streamliner were evacuated by busses yesterday after spending more than 48 hours on the stalled train.

The streamliner was first stopped by flood waters from the rampaging Cottonwood river near Cedar Point, Kan., 25 miles northeast of Newton about 4 a.m. Wednesday.

Since that time, the El Capitan had been without lights and was seriously short of water before all passengers were evacuated.

FIRST AUXILIARY POLICE APPLICANTS BEING INTERVIEWED

Interviewing the first of more than 400 applicants for posts as auxiliary policemen in the city's civil defense program was begun today by Assistant Chief of Police Joseph Casey and Inspector Curtis Brostron.

Casey said about 100 applicants will be interviewed today and 100 others each Saturday until all have been seen by police officials. Aim of the interviews is to determine the assignment for which the applicant is best fitted. Later, those accepted will be trained at the Police Academy.

This is the first step in reactivation of the Auxiliary Police, organized in 1941 and served in World War II by a compliment of about 1800 men. Thirteen units of the Auxiliary are planned, with one in each of the 12 police districts and the other composed of specialists such as physicians, sanitation experts, radio engineers and other professional men and technicians.

U.S. PLANES NOT TO BLAME IN PILOT DEATHS, ITALY SAYS

ROME, July 14 (AP)—The Italian Defense Ministry said today 19 Italian pilots have died this year in crashes of American fighter planes donated by the United States to Italy. It denied, however, that inferior material in the American planes was responsible for the crashes.

The communique followed publication in Milan's weekly Candido of an open letter to President Truman asking him to shed light on Italian pilot deaths in "outmoded" American planes.

The ministry said 50 per cent of the accidents were due to professional technical deficiency, 30 per cent to technical reasons; 10 per cent to weather conditions and 10 per cent not definitely determined.

Pigs and a Paralyzed Dog All Part Of Refugee Scene at Kansas City

Homeless Jam Auditorium — Red Cross Volunteers Work Through Night to Tag Their Belongings.

By R. B. HAYES

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 14 (UP)—The corridors of Kansas City's cavernous Municipal Auditorium filled today with the belongings of the poor, many who have always been poor, and some who fared reasonably well financially until their homes were swallowed by turbulent flood waters.

Red Cross volunteers worked in four-hour shifts through the night, assigning space, passing out receipts, and recording the inventories on the master lists.

Each heap of belongings carried its name and its number, matching the listings of the Red Cross workers who manned a desk in front of the big doors, where battered passenger automobiles, pickup trucks, and occasionally a large truck delivered their loads.

Beside the door stood graying Mrs. George Hathaway of North Kansas City. She held the head of a whimpering dog that lay beneath a chair on a bundle of clothes.

"We didn't get out with anythink much except Jinks," she said. "He is more than 20 years old and mostly paralyzed, but we couldn't leave him to die."

Her husband, in overalls, took his coupon receipt from the Red Cross man and said, "Let's go, Mom." Yesterday was their ninth wedding anniversary.

A woman standing on a bluff overlooking the two-mile wide sweep of the rampaging Kansas river pointed with a gnarled finger and said brokenly:

"My home was down there. I can't see it now. Water's over the roof."

Plucking at her dress, she added: "This is all I brought with me."

Beside the flood in the bottoms, others watched for livestock in the river and when they spied hogs swimming past they shouted:

"Here piggy. Here piggy, piggy."

A man leaped into the water with his clothes on and struggled to get a pig ashore. Other hogs were being driven up the hillside.

"Wanta buy a pig, mister?" a young man asked. "I'll sell it for $20. Lots of good pork chops there."

A boat came chugging to shore with a refugee. His wife was in the first rush of those fleeing from the bottoms. Then she became worried about her husband, asleep at home. Boatmen were sent after him. They found him still sleeping, with water creeping into the second-floor bedroom.

MISSING ST. LOUISAN NOW LISTED AS KILLED

Marine From City Wounded by Mortar Fire, Is Back on Duty.

Funeral services will be Monday at 9 a.m. at St. Pius the Fifth Catholic Church, 3310 South Grand boulevard, with burial in Sunset Burial Park.

PRINTERS' UNION PLANS TO PUBLISH 9 DAILIES

4 New Newspapers Scheduled to Start Operation This Month.

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—A labor union's plan to increase competition in the daily newspaper field is expected to go into operation this month.

The International Typographical Union announced last night it would sponsor nine new dailies, with four tentatively set to start publishing this month.

All of the papers will be tabloids; each will be known as the Daily News-Digest. They will be published in Allentown, Pa.; Monroe, La.; Texarkana, Ark.; Springfield, Mo.; Meriden, Conn.; Lorain, O., and Huntington, Beckley and Charleston, W. Va.

The union has set up an organization, called the New Newspaper Service, to supervise operation of the papers and supply them with a news report. The service has opened an office here.

It issued a statement which said "the papers have been created to provide competition in communities where newspaper monopolies exist and to insure maintenance of union working conditions.

In a sample copy of one paper, an article says that a new idea in newspaper publishing is being brought to reality by the Daily News-Digest.

The article adds:

"The International Typographical Union, representing the 90,000 skilled craftsmen in the printing industry, believes that this concept will crack the growing wall of monopoly operation and insure maintenance of union working conditions in an industry in which some segments are on the union-busting warpath."

Saul Miller will be chief of the Washington headquarters of the new service, with Dale Byrne as director of publication.

The union did not name the cities in which the first four tabloids may appear this month.

Soprano Pops Blood Vessel.

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., July 14 (AP)—Opera soprano Lotte Lehman won't be singing much for the next two or three weeks. She popped a blood vessel while trying for a high note in rehearsal yesterday. Her representative, Larry Helmer, said the condition is not serious.

Trying England-to-France Swim.

DOVER, England, July 14 (AP)—A Greek army major today made the first bid of the year to swim the English Channel. Maj. Jason Zirganos, 41 years old, is trying to swim from England to France. This is considered more difficult than crossing in the other direction, which he has done twice, in 1949 and 1950.

TRUMAN SLAPS AT DOUGLAS IN NAMING JUDGES

Rejects Two of Senator's Choices — Appoints Friend of Lucas to One of Three Posts.

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—President Truman apparently has produced something rare in politics—an award to a defeated Senator in the form of a federal court appointment for a friend.

The reputed recipient in this case was former Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois, Democratic Senate leader who was defeated last November by Senator Dirksen, a Republican.

Lame duck Senators sometimes get appointments for themselves but few of them find that even a long record of service for the administration can land a job for a friend after they themselves have tasted defeat.

Slap at Douglas.

Truman's appointment yesterday of Joseph Samuel Perry, Joseph Drucker and Cornelius J. Harrington as United States judges for the norther district of Illinois was regarded generally as a slap at Senator Douglas (Dem.), Illinois, and something of a reward for Lucas.

Friends said Lucas had backed Perry with the argument that he could have suggested a nominee before his defeat last November but didn't do so under an agreement with Douglas to wait until after the election before filling the post.

The fact that Douglas also indorsed Perry was overshadowed by the President's action in naming Drucker and Harrington.

Drucker, now a municipal court judge in Chicago, is a nephew of Representative Sabath (Dem.), Illinois, chairman of the House Rules Committee which has virtual life and death powers over legislation in that body.

Harrington, a Cook county circuit judge, was said to be the choice of the Chicago Democratic organization with which Douglas has not been too friendly.

Douglas Backed Two Others.

Douglas had proposed Benjamin P. Epstein of the Cook county circuit court and William H. King, former president of the Chicago Bar Association, for the nominations that went to Drucker and Harrington.

Douglas, who has been mentioned as a possible 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, hasn't spared the lash at times in criticizing actions of the Truman administration.

Although he and the President apparently had a friendly conference at the White House earlier in the week, the Illinois Senator is known to feel he is not regarded as one of Truman's warm political friends.

The President's assist to Sabath and the Chicago organization was interpreted in some quarters here as an indirect move to keep the Illinois delegation in line for Truman in 1952 and a blow at any possible boom for Douglas as a favorite son candidate.

Perry, of Wheaton, will succeed the late Judge Elwyn R. Shaw. The others were nominated to fill newly created judgeships.

R.C.A. SHOWS ITS COLOR TV TO HEADS OF RIVAL CBS

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—The Radio Corporation of America has shown its color television to top officers of the rival Columbia Broadcasting System. C.B.S. board chairman William S. Paley and president Frank Stanton watched an R.C.A. telecast on R.C.A. equipment yesterday, but offered no comment afterward.

The showings concluded a week of tests of R.C.A. color TV with programs for the press and industry officials. In a few weeks, R.C.A. will place color sets in public places for anyone to view.

C.B.S. color is now in regular operation with the approval of the Federal Communications Commission. The FCC rejected the R.C.A. system but authorized continued experiments by R.C.A. R.C.A. has offered to make its system available to the TV industry.

'THE KING OF THE GYPSIES,' STEVE NICHOLAS DAVIS, DIES

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., July 14 (AP)—The "King of the Gypsies," Steve Nicholas Davis, died in a hospital here last night. He was 42 years old.

Davis acknowledged No. 1 man of the United States's 6000 gypsies, had suffered a stroke. Mourners congregated in the hospital vicinity in such numbers that extra police were ordered in to help with traffic. Battle Creek is winter quarters for gypsies who work in traveling carnivals. The crowd of mourners included some gypsies in expensive limousines.

Davis inherited the gypsy kingship from his father, who died in 1946. Davis's 16-year-old son, James, probably will be the new king.

India Air Schedules Cut.

BOMBAY, India, July 14 (UP)—Indian internal airline operators cut their schedules today because of a shortage of fuel caused by the Iranian oil crisis. Most of India's aviation fuel comes from Iran.

3300 AT ANNUAL OUTDOOR NOVENA AT CARMELITE HOUSE

More than 3300 persons attended outdoor services last night at the annual novena in honor of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, at the Carmelite Monastery, 9150 Clayton road, Ladue.

The Rev. Alphonse Simon, O.M.I. director of King's House of Retreats, Belleville, outlined the rigorous life of nuns in the Carmelite order and pointed out that their life is comparable to that of the Blessed Mother in that the nuns combine ordinary household duties and prayer.

Father Simon also praised the Third Order of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, made up of lay people as an order "for Catholics who wish to be more pious, perform more good works and say more prayers." Last day of the nine days of prayer is tomorrow. Services will begin at 8 p.m.

THEODORE QUERBACH FUNERAL SERVICES TO BE TOMORROW

Funeral services for Theodore J. Querbach, an employe of Scruggs-Vandervoort-Barney Inc. for 54 years when he retired in 1948, will be tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. at the Alexander & Sons undertaking establishment, 6175 Delmar boulevard. Interment will be private.

Querbach, 91 years old, died Thursday of infirmities at the Reese nursing home, 7604 Rannells avenue, Maplewood. As white goods buyer for the department store for 37 years, he became known in the trade as an authority on fine cotton and linen fabrics.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Frank J. Bullivant, 5633 Walsh street, with whom he made his home, and a son, Earl Querbach of Pittsburgh.

ST. LOUIS PASTOR IN EUROPE FOR GREEK, YUGOSLAV MISSION

The Rev. Dr. Hampton Adams, pastor of Union Avenue Christian Church, arrived in Geneva, Switzerland, yesterday, to join a two-week Ecumenical Fellowship Mission to Greece and Yugoslavia.

With 21 other churchmen the Rev. Dr. Adams will travel by chartered plane from Geneva, visiting church institutions, projects and activities in Athens, Corinth, Jannina and Salonica in Greece, and in Belgrade, Titograd and Zagreb, Yugoslavia.

The trip is being sponsored by the Department of Interchurch Aid and Service to Refugees of the World Council of Churches and is designed to give the 22 churchmen a look into the attitudes of government leaders toward religion. Dr. Adams will return to St. Louis Aug. 2.

LEROY B. BARBER ESTATE INVENTORIED AT $170,612

An estate valued at $170,612 was left by Leroy B. Barber, St. Louis manufacturer, an inventory filed yesterday in probate court showed.

Barber, 59 years old, died May 27 at his residence in St. Petersburg, Fla. He operated the Vivian Manufacturing Co., makers of ice handling equipment, 4136 Folsom avenue, and lived at 4475 West Pine boulevard.

Largest item in the inventory was goods and chattels, $102,067, of which $98,962 represented of office and factory equipment, manufactured goods and supplies. Also listed was $34,888 in cash. The estate was left to his wife, Mrs. Vivian Kennedy Barber.

BRITAIN ASKS RAIL WORKERS TO WORK A 48-HOUR WEEK

LONDON, July 14 (UP) — The British nationalized railways asked labor unions today to raise the work week from 44 to 48 hours to overcome an acute labor shortage.

The Society of Engineers and Firemen turned down the request on grounds the Government refused to defer rail workers called for military service.

The Government offered overtime for extra hours and also asked that railmen work through half of their annual two-week vacation, that the retirement age be raised from 65 to 70 and that Italian labor be imported to meet needs.

LONDON RED PAPER FAKES PHOTO OF 'BIG 5' PEACE TALK

LONDON, July 14 (AP)—The Communist Daily Worker stepped up its "peace campaign" today with a faked page one photo of Big Five leaders sitting around a conference table—smiling.

"These five men can make peace," the newspaper's front page banner said. Below it a three-column picture purported to show President Truman, Prime Minister Stalin, Mao Tze-tung, French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman and Prime Minister Clement Attlee.

"This is the picture the world is waiting to see," said the paper.

ARNOLD SCHOENBERG

ARNOLD SCHOENBERG, COMPOSER, DIES AT 76

Father of Modern Atonal School of Music—Former U.C.L.A. Professor.

WEST LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 14 (AP)—Composer Arnold Schoenberg, father of the atonal school of music, died at his home last night after a two-year illness. He was 76 years old.

He was a native of Vienna and came to the United States in the 1930s after Adolf Hitler's rise to power and the Austrian anschluss. He served as professor of music at the University of California at Los Angeles until illness forced his retirement two and one half years ago.

Most of Schoenberg's compositions were based on a 12-tone scale, instead of the traditional eight-tone scale. He began experimenting with new musical sounds in the earlier 1900s. His work, at first harsh on the ear, won many converts.

His best known compositions include "Verklarte Nacht" (Transfigured night), "Gurre-lieder" (Songs of the Dove), and a symphonic poem, "Pelleas and Melisande."

At the time of his death, he was believed to be completing an opera, "Moses and Aaron."

His works also included concertos for violin and piano and numerous chamber music items.

He was widely known as a theorist and teacher, having taught in Vienna, Amsterdam and Berlin before joining the U.C.L.A. faculty. He became an American citizen in 1940.

Schoenberg is survived by his widow, Gertrud; a daughter, Nuria, and two sons, Arnold Jr. and Larry.

MRS. AARON WALDHEIM LEFT ESTATE VALUED AT $885,155

The estate of Mrs. Aaron Waldheim, widow of a St. Louis capitalist and philanthropist, was valued at $885,155 in an inventory filed in probate court yesterday. Assets listed were: Bonds, $458,782; stocks, $360,551; cash, $31,738; accounts, $26,129, and goods, $7955.

Mrs. Waldheim, the former Hattie Sommers, died Maty 21 at 84. She lived at the Park Plaza Hotel. In her will, she left $75,000 to the Jewish Hospital building fund. After two other bequests totaling $10,000, two-thirds of the residue of the estate was left to a daughter, Mrs. Helen Platt, and one-third to a son, Millard A. Waldheim.

Her husband, who was founder and president of May-Stern Furniture Co., died in 1948, leaving an estate valued at $995,552. His contributions to charities included $335,000 to Jewish Hospital.

BISHOP HOLT AND WIFE SAIL FOR CONFERENCES IN EUROPE

Bishop Ivan Lee Holt and Mrs. Holt of St. Louis sailed yesterday from New York aboard the liner Mauretania to attend a series of church meetings in England and on the Continent. Before attending the meetings, they are planning a two-week vacation on the Riviera.

As president of the Methodist Ecumenical Council, Bishop Holt will preside over the World Conference of Methodists at Oxford, England, from Aug. 28 to Sept. 7.

He also plans to attend the meeting of the Central Committee of the World Council of Churches at Rolle, Switzerland, from Aug. 4 to 11, and the World Commission on Faith and Order, also in Switzerland, from Aug. 15 to 17. Bishop and Mrs. Holt live at 20 North Kingshighway.

Directors re-elected were: Arthur B. Baer, Sidney R. Baer Sr., Leo C. Fuller, Joseph Glaser Jr., Jerome M. Ney and Sigmond Wolfort.

MAX STEINDEL DIRECTS THE LITTLE SYMPHONY

Program Full of Novelties—Duo-Pianists Play — Composer Conducts Own Piece.

By THOMAS B. SHERMAN

Max Steindel, the resident conductor of the Little Symphony Orchestra, was in charge at last night's concert in Washington University Quadrange and directed the largest part of a program that was full of novelties. Richard Johnson and David Milliken, a two-piano team from the faculty of Stephens College played the Poulenc concerto with the orchestra and functioned as soloists in the Carnival of Animals by Saint-Saens; Max Myover, a St. Louis composer now teaching at Dakota Wesleyan College, conducted his own Sinfonietta; and Steindel himself dropped the baton to play solo 'cello in the "Carnival's" most familiar section, "The Swan."

The duo-pianists performed with impressive facility and the Poulenc concerto had an engaging playfulness, relieved somewhat, in the slow movement by a quasi-Mozartean romanza. Poulenc's gift for transforming naive and banal material into something piquant and slightly ironic was evident in both allegro movements.

The large audience responded enthusiastically to this performance and liked the Saint-Saens musical zoo quite as well. The pianists reciprocated with three encores; an arrangement of a song by Rachmaninoff, an arrangement of a Handel Musette, and Benjamin's "Jamaican Rhumba."

Myover's Sinfonietta, which he dedicated to the Little Symphony, had a consistent polyphonic texture which showed indirectly the influence of Hindemith. The melodic content was chromatic; the harmonies were prevailingly dissonant. But though the thematic material had character the work was interesting largely because of its rhythmic life. The orchestra was sloppy in many of its entrances and tentative in much of its phrasing; but it was a difficult piece and needed more rehearsal time than was available.

Steindel began his program with a sturdy performance of Bach's Brandenburg Concerto No. 3 which involved only the string choir. The variety and high entertainment value of the concert was rewarded. It drew the largest audience of the season, about 1800.

EX-RED TELLS WHY PARTY TOOK OVER 1932 BONUS MARCH

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP) A former Communist testified yesterday that Reds seized control of the 1932 soldiers' bonus march "because the right-thinking people of the country did not provide the proper direction."

The witness, John T. Pace, now a Centerville (Tenn.) sewer contractor, appeared before the House Committee on Un-American Activities to repeat publicly the testimony he gave in a 1949 closed-door hearing. Pace said he was one of about 100 Red leaders who directed the bonus march.

The committee asked Pace to reaffirm the testimony in public after Representative Velde (Rep.), Illinois, charged that the testimony was kept secret because it reflected credit on Gen. Douglas MacArthur. MacArthur was Army chief of staff at time of the bonus march and acted on President Hoover's orders to halt bonus march rioting in the capital.

Representative Wood (Dem.), Georgia, committee chairman, denied that testimony favorable to MacArthur prompted the committee's decision to withhold Pace's account from the public. He said newspapers published the account a few days later. And, he added, one committee member voted against releasing the testimony because he felt it would make members of the American Legion who participated in the march appear as Communist dupes.

URGES WOMEN TO DO MORE THAN TALK ABOUT POLITICS

Women should not only talk about politics, they should do something about it, Mrs. Edward G. Brungard, board member of the League of Women Voters, told 200 Fontbonne College students yesterday.

Mrs. Brungard urged that every woman be a registered voter, listen to radio speeches, read political stories in newspapers, and join in discussion of politics in an intelligent manner.

Knowing a candidate before he is elected is important, Mrs. Brungard stated, but the voter should also keep informed about him after elections and keep in touch with him by means of letters and telegrams. A good politician deserves praise just as much as a poor candidate deserves censure, she said.

Mrs. Brungard is a member of the Board of Freeholders who worked on revision of the city charter last year.

NEW YORK, July 14—Second place was at stake today as the Cardinals played the New York Giants in the final of a three-game series at the Polo Grounds.

The Redbirds trailed the Giants by one game, but a victory would put them ahead of New York by one percentage point.

Veteran lefthander Max (5-6) Lanier pitched for the Cardinals and southpaw Monte (1-2) Kenedy was on the mound for the Giants.

Against lefthanded pitching, Manager Marty Marion again used his righthanded hitting platoon, but Enos Slaughter replaced Hal Rice in right field.

The Giants scored a run in the first inning on Alvin Dark's first hit, an infield out and a single by Monte Irvin, and their lead became 2-0 in the third on Dark's safe bunt and Bobby Thomson's double.

The Cardinals routed Kennedy in the fifth when three singles produced the tying run.

Attendance in bright, hot weather was about 9000.

Dascoli, Goetz and Jorda were the umpires.

The game, play by play.

FIRST INNING—CARDINALS Rojek flied to Irvin. Schoendienst walked. Musial grounded out to Lockman. Westlake walked. Slaughter popped to Williams.

JIM DELSING of the Browns sliding across the plate with a run in the seventh inning of the game with the Athletics. JOE TIPTON, Philadelphia catcher, has set himself for a block, but the throw was to the right of the plate. The play was set up when Delsing attempted to steal second and the throw to catch him went to center field. Delsing kept on running to reach home ahead of the throw from Dave Philly, who retrieved the ball in center. The Browns won the game, 5-0.

White Sox Get Back at Red Sox In Drama-Packed 19-Inning Game

CHICAGO, July 14 (AP)—The never-give-up White Sox have done it again.

Marathon 19-inning winners over the Red Sox in the longest night game in American League history, the "rags to Richards" gang trails Boston today by .003 in the steaming American League race.

Even the hardiest Chicago fans lost hope when Boston broke a 2-2 tie with two runs in the top of the 19th.

You can imagine the wild scene when the White Sox fought back to score three and write a new golden page in their Comiskey Park record book at 1:17 a.m. (St. Louis) this summer Saturday morning.

The 5-4 victory boosted Chicago up even with Boston in the games behind column but the Red Sox hold that slender edge—.620 to .617 in the percentage table.

45 Innings in Two Days.

Nobody who saw this third game of the vital four-game series will forget it. The clubs played a nine-inning twilight game Thursday night and followed with a 17-inning struggle, both won by Boston. Then came the 19-inning battle last night for 45 innings in two days.

The 19-inning game tied the major league high of last Sept. 15 between Cincinnati and Philadelphia. It also set an American League record for consecutive innings played in overtime competition. The former mark of 33 was set in 1918 by the Yankees who went 14 and 19 innings against two different foes.

Billy Pierce, Luis Aloma and Harry Dorish hurled for the White Sox with Dorish pitching the last six innings for the win.

Mickey McDermott pitched the first 17 innings for Boston in a magnificent effort. He gave up two tying runs in the fifth and that was all. Harry Taylor who took over in the 18th was charged with the loss although Ray Scarborough had relieved him before the game ended.

Boston forged ahead in the 19th with Clyde Vollmer, who homered in the fifth, singling home one run. An error by Nelson Fox let in the second.

But back came those White Sox. Floyd Baker opened with a single and Bob Dillinger followed with another single. Fox beat out a bunt to fill the bases. Eddie Stewart, batting for Jim Busby, singled to center scoring Baker and Dillinger to make it 4-4.

Lenhardt's Fly Does It.

That was all for Taylor and Scarborough came in. Al Zarilla beat out a bunt to the pitcher, loading the bases. Still nobody out. Don Lenhardt's fly to center sent Fox charging home with the winning run.

Cleveland came from behind after spotting New York six runs to win, 11-8, edging up in the hot race. They trail by only 3½ games. Bob Porterfield pitched and batted Washington to a 3-1 margin over Detroit.

Brooklyn held its 9½ game lead in the National by bopping Chicago, 8-6, for its eighth straight loss. Only difference in the National League standings finds New York back in second place instead of St. Louis after the Giants' 14-4 slaughter of the Cardinals with two grand-slam homers.

Cincinnati blanked Boston, 2-0, as Howie Fox stretched his scoreless string to 21 innings. Robin Roberts set down Pittsburgh with two hits for a 3-2 Philadelphia victory.

The Yankees blew a 6-0 lead at Cleveland when the Tribe ripped into Vic Raschi, loser Frank Shea, Jack Kramer, Joe Ostrowski and Tom Morgan for 13 hits. Joe Collins's third inning homer with the bases loaded off Bob Lemon helped the Yanks pile up their big early margin. Far removed from Thursday's no-hitter, the two clubs racked up 28 hits.

Jim Hegan and Al Rosen homered for the Inidans, each with two on as they scored five in the fourth and four in the fifth. Lemon, knocked out in the seventh and nicked for 11 hits, was credited with his ninth win.

Porterfield, always a hard luck pitcher, pulled a muscle in his hip after seven innings but earned the decision for Washington over Detroit. Julio Moreno finished up.

It was home run day—and night—in the National with a total of 15 tying the season record crop. Seven were hit at Ebbets Field by the Dodgers and Cubs.

CARDS LOSE, 14-4; GIANTS BELT TWO GRAND SLAMMERS

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 14 — Two grandslam home runs, one off Starter Red Munger and the other off Relief Pitcher Jack Crimian, played a predominant part in the Cardinals' 14-4 loss to the New York Giants here last night.

Wes Westrum hit the first round-tripper in the third inning in which the Giants scored five runs. Dave Williams, rookie second basemen, belted the second slammer in the eighth. Don Mueller also whacked a home run for the New Yorkers who hammered the Redbird pitchers for the greatest number of runs since the Giants counted 17 on the Cardinals' flu-bitten trip in May.

Del Rice and Red Schoendienst belted Dave Koslo for home runs in the fifth inning but they were not enough and the southpaw gained his fourth victory to go with five defeats. Munger's record now is 4-4.

Field (Especially Snead) Closing In on Fazio in Western Open

DAVENPORT, Ia., July 14 (UP)—George Fazio of Pine Valley, N.J., clung to a slender lead in the Western Open golf tournament totday as it moved in the final two rounds but the field was closing in on him.

Fazio's three-stroke lead at the end of 18 holes faded yesterday as he zoomed to a two-over-par 72 after setting a first round course record of 63. His 135-stroke total for 36 holes was one better than the efforts of Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., and Doug Ford, Harrison, N.Y., who fired consistent 68s both days for 136.

Sam Snead, seeking his third straight title, moved up into contention with a second round 67 after slipping seven strokes off the pace opening day with a par 70. Johnny Palmer, Badin, N.C., and Lloyd Mangrum, Los Angeles, shared the 137 niche with Snead. Palmer shot a 68 yesterday while Mangrum carded a 69.

Chick Harbert, Detroit, finished with a 139. He scored the hard way. Four strokes over par going out, Harbert shot a blistering 30 on the back nine to wind up with a 69 and the lowest nine-hole round of the tournament.

Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, the leading challenger at the end of the first round, soared to a 75 for a total of 141.

The field was cut to the low 60 scorers and ties at the close of yesterday's play. The abbreviated field continues medal play tomorrow to determine the champion. If a tie develops at the end of 72 holes, an 18-hole medal playoff will be held Monday.

Veeck to Name New Manager in 'Four or Five Days'

BILL VEECK hopes to announce the new Brown's manager "in four or five days."

Acknowledging that Rogers Hornsby, now managing Seattle in the Pacific Coast League, was being considered, Veeck said he had neither spoken to Hornsby nor contacted the Seattle club for permission to discuss the job with the Rajah.

Also mentioned for the Brownie job were Joe Gordon, Lou Boudreau and Charley Grimm.

Eager to launch the club's rebuilding program, Veeck repeated an old story: "Pretty soon you'll be looking at three Brownie teams — the one on the train coming in, the one on the field and the one on the train going out."

Chandler Sings Swan Song on 53rd Birthday

CINCINNATI, July 14 (AP) — Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler, on his next-to-last day in office as the game's big boss, said in a statement today:

"I leave this office confident that the ball players, the fans and a majority of the club owners feel that I did a good job.

"That I was not voted another seven-year term is one thing—the support of the real people in baseball is the all-important matter.

"The ball players always had a chance to say their piece during my regime. Their feelings and opinions were given the same consideration as the club owners.

"I made every effort to deal fairly with every problem that confronted baseball.

"The fans know that. The way they have received me wherever I have gone since my contract was not renewed convinces me of that fact.

"I leave baseball with love in my heart for the game, and, I hope, the feeling among everyone, from fan to magnate, that I did my best.

"I hope baseball prospers and I wish everyone well who is connected with it."

Chandler observed his fifty-third birthday today.

World Record By Star's Pride

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y., July 14 (UP)—Star's Pride, a sensational four-year-old owned by E. Roland Harriman of Goshen and Lawrence B. Sheppard of Hanover, Pa., set a new world record for trotters of all ages on a half-mile track at Saratoga Raceway last night.

The fleet horse won the $5000 Chatham free-for-all in 2:00 3-5.

Piloted by Harry Pownall, Star's Pride ran third during most of the race, coming to the lead only in the stretch to beat its stablemate, Florican, by a length and a half.

Star's Pride erased the S.P.A. trotting mark set by Proximity in 1949 and surpassed the track pacing standard hung up by Jimmy Creed in 1948.

St. Louis Oarsmen in Central Regatta Today

DETROIT, July 14 (AP)—The Detroit Boat Club, oldest rowing club in North America, is favored to win the team championship in the thirty-ninth Central States rowing regatta here today, and tomorrow.

The 112-year-old Detroit club will be opposed by approximately 200 oarsmen from St. Louis, Toronto, Buffalo, Minneapolis, Lincoln Park, Ill., Quincy, Ill., and Hamilton, Ont.

The races will be held on a mile-and-quarter course on the Detroit river.

Collegian Plays Tested Veteran In Links Final

MILWAUKEE, July 14 (AP)—A collegian and a 35-year-old tourney tested veteran met today for the twenty-sixth national Public Links championship.

Survivors of the starting field of 210 were 20-year-old Dave Stanley of Los Angeles, a junior at U.C.L.A. making his first start in the fee course classic, and Ralph J. Vranesic of Denver, who has reached the quarter-finals four times.

They won their way into the title match yesterday in 37-hole matches, the first time that both semi-finals of a national tournament have gone into overtime.

The two gladiators are booked for 36 holes, more or less, over the heavily-forested, stream traversed 6673 yards of Browns Deer Park—a rugged test with a 35-36—71 par.

Ousted in the semi-finals were Ralph (Pat) Schwab of Dayton, 18-year-old favorite of the galleryites, and William P. Lees, 31-year-old unemployed lumberman from Portland, Ore.

Both mussed up the thirty-seventh hole as Schwab lost to Vranesic and Lees surrendered to Stanley. Schwab muffed an 18-inch putt, while Lees fluffed two short approaches from just off the green.

Young Schwab, six feet two and weighing 210, sat down on the green and sobbed after losing. But later he shrugged off the loss and said: "Maybe I'm better off this way. I have a lot of tournaments to play before I'm through, and I learned a lot of things in this one. When I missed that putt, I was thinking about my next tee shot, I was so sure it would drop. Now I know enough to play each shot as it comes. My dad has always told me that the only easy putt is a conceded one, and I guess I proved that for myself. I hadn't missed a putt under five feet in the entire tournament until that short one ran around the edge and stayed out."

Pat's dad, Harry Schwab—who once had first base tryouts with both the Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates — is professional at the 36-hole community course at Dayton.

Stanley's putter was the magic wand which won his way into the final. He didn't have a three-putt green in the 37 holes, and some of the greens are as big as a parking lot.

Lees started home after losing, and he wasn't too downcast.

"This is a great course, and I was lucky to get as far as I did," he said.

COLUMBUS, Ga., July 14 (INS)—Arnold Blum, of Macon, Ga., and Eddie Merrins, Meridian, Miss., squared off today under a hot Columbus sun for the Southern amateur golf title.

Blum, who is 29, is current holder of the Georgia amateur title. Merrins, 18-year-old Louisiana State University sophomore, is the National Jaycee champion. Should he win today, Merrins would be the youngest Southern champ since Bobby Jones won the title at the age of 17.

Blum reached the final by defeating Jack Key Jr., of Columbus, 5 and 3, yesterday. Merrins ousted Bill Williamson, 8 and 7.

Ralph Branca Sidelined With Pulled Muscle

BROOKLYN, July 14 (AP)—Dr. Harold E. Wendler, Brooklyn Dodgers trainer, said yesterday Ralph Branca probably would do no pitching for a week because of a pulled muscle in his right arm.

Branca was forced to quit last night with a 2-0 lead over the Chicago Cubs, after Bruce Edwards hit a double off him.

"It bothered me last Saturday night in Philadelphia, but I said nothing about it," Branca declared. "It hurt again when I was warming up and the pain got a little more severe after that pitch to Edwards. So I decided to take no chances."

Pillette and Bero Outsparkle All of Veeck's Fireworks

By Neal Russo

Herman Polycarp Pillette, whose 2.84 earned run average was second only to Red Faber's 2.81 in 1922 would have been proud of his boy. Duane Xavier Pillette, as sharp as the blade that rhymes with his last name, pitched his first major league shutout, a 5-0 victory over the Athletics last night at Sportsman's Park.

Although Duane has been a hot Brownie pitcher the past six weeks, he keeps insisting Pop Herman was the real star of the family.

"Why, my father kept pitching in the Pacific Coast League until two months before his fiftieth birthday—that was in 1945," young Pillette said. "Dad told me that if he knew the scouting job he took then wouldn't pan out, he would have gone ahead and pitched four or five more seasons."

"Pop had a great curve, sinker and control," the son said of his father, who won 19 games for Detroit in 1922, the year the Browns hit .313 and just missed the pennant. Herman Pillette, a righthander like his boy, pitched in the Pacific Coast League 24 years. Two years after Herman said goodby to the league of sunshine and octogenarians, Duane played in the same loop.

Not Much Help From Dad.

Actually, Pillette the elder taught Pillette the younger little about pitching because he wanted his son to develop his own style. By the time Pillette the younger was ready for lessons, he was off to Santa Clara and college textbooks and his father was far off hurling for Coast clubs. Then came World War II.

"I remember watching Herman Pillette," said Brownie President Bill Veeck, "and, boy, could he throw hard." Veeck was equally enthusiastic about the four-hitter Duane turned in, permitting only one Athletic runner to reach third base.

Duane Pillette, who has four victories and seven losses, has come up with a smooth change-up, an improved slider and a baffling curve and fastball that he can get over the plate for a change.

Young Pillette—he's 28—said he became a pitcher by accident, not because he wanted to be what his father was.

This is Duane's story:

"When I went out for the ninth grade team in San Jose, I was a bad shortstop but didn't admit I played that position. I happened to be standing near a group of pitchers and when the coach said 'Okay, you kids, start pitching, I began throwing.'" And Duane hasn't stopped since.

Bero Big Shot on Offense.

Duane was quick to point out that it took two home runs by his road roommate, John George Bero, to produce the first three Brownie runs as the club ended a four-game losing streak. Bero, who weighs only 160 and wears glasses, whacked home runs onto the pavilion roof his first two times at bat.

Victim of both blows was Righthander Dick Fowler, the loser. Joe Coleman and John Kucab also saw mound duty for the Athletics. Pillette walked six, but was in little trouble.

So, bring on more Friday the thirteenths for Bero, who never had hit two home runs in a major league game, and Pillette, a shutout winner for the first time in the big show.

Brownie Notes.

Jim (0-4) Suchecki will oppose the Athletics' Morris (4-1) Martin, lefty from Washington, Mo., who used to be with the Dodgers. The Ladies' day game will begin 2:30 p.m. Ned Garver will hurl in the Sunday twin bill with the Red Sox.

Only 2446 paid to watch the post-game fireworks. . . . A young fellow shined shoes in the stands, another Veeckian service. . . . Frank Baumann, Central High's star southpaw, worked out with Chief Bender, Athletics coach, watching him.

Ray Coleman was shaken up when he crashed into the left-field wall after making a brilliant catch. Fred Marsh and Dale Long also starred afield.

Arnold Tucker Added To Army Coaching Staff

WEST POINT, N.Y., July 14 (AP)—Lt. Arnold Tucker, brilliant quarterback of Army's undefeated football teams of 1944-45-46, has been assigned to the military academy's football coaching staff, it was announced yesterday.

Tucker, a veteran bomber pilot of the Korean war, is expected to arrive here within the next few days. He will join several teammates on the staff, including Lt. Felix (Doc) Blanchard, Capt. Jack Green and Capt. Bob St. Onge.

No. 32 for Gordon.

LOS ANGELES, July 14 (UP)—Los Angeles absorbed Joe Gordon's thirty-second homer of the year last night and went on to defeat Sacramento, 4 to 3. The Solons collected only four hits off Warren Hacker and Ed Chandler.

$ Day for Citation (Million $, That Is)

First Prize Is $100,000 In Gold Cup

INGLEWOOD, Calif., July 14 (UP) — Citation calmly munched hay in his stall through the night unimpressed with the drama of today's $100,000 Hollywood Gold Cup in which he may become the turf's first equine millionaire.

The handsome brown horse with his arched neck and the look of a champion in his eyes headed a field of 10 named through the entry box for the mile and a quarter classic that Hollywood Park holds annually as the big feature of its summer meeting.

Victory for Citation would climax four years of racing during which he has done everything asked of a thoroughbred and more. Winner of the triple crown as a three-year-old Citation came back after a 13-month layoff and might have achieved his million dollar goal last year had it not been for the emerging of a great Irish horse, Noor, who beat him four times.

Second Comeback.

As a result, Citation came back for a second time this season as a six-year-old. Today his earnings stand at $985,760; tomorrow they may be $100,000 higher.

But before Calumet Farm can relax with a sigh of relief and happiness, Citation must beat seven horses. Two others in the race, Bewitch and All Blue, are his stablemates and there was no question that if the run for the finish line was between them and Citation they would step aside and let the champion win.

Of Citation's seven real rivals, only three could be considered real contenders. They are Be Fleet, the high-weighted horse with 122 pounds; Lotowhite, with 117, and Sturdy One with 109. The outsiders are Sudan, 107; Alderman, 103; Akimso, 103, and Tantamount, 100.

Citation Carrying 120 Lbs.

Citation gets in with 120 pounds, which should not bother the champion. All Blue carries 111 and Bewitch has 108 pounds up.

Bewitch also is after a record in the race, that of the top money-winning mare of all times. It is but $2930 short of Gallorette's mark of $445,535 and even fourth money of $5000 will put it over the top.

Be Fleet, a late-developing son of Count Fleet, has beaten Citation once this meeting in the Argonaut Handicap but the Calumet champion came back to avenge that defeat twice. Sturdy One, with its light load, has a chance of overhauling the leaders in the stretch. It won the Inglewood Handicap and was third to Citation and Bewitch in the American Handicap July 4. Lotowhite is a hard-knocking handicap performer who was flown here from the East for the Gold Cup and cannot be overlooked.

Probable post time is 5:20 p.m.

Ugh!

LEXINGTON, Ky., July 14 (AP)—What would you do if you had to play your boss in the final of a golf tournament?

That question was to be decided by a Lexington reporter today.

Reporter Bush Brooke advanced to the final of the first flight of the men's city golf tourney.

His opponent was Managing Editor Herman Phelps.

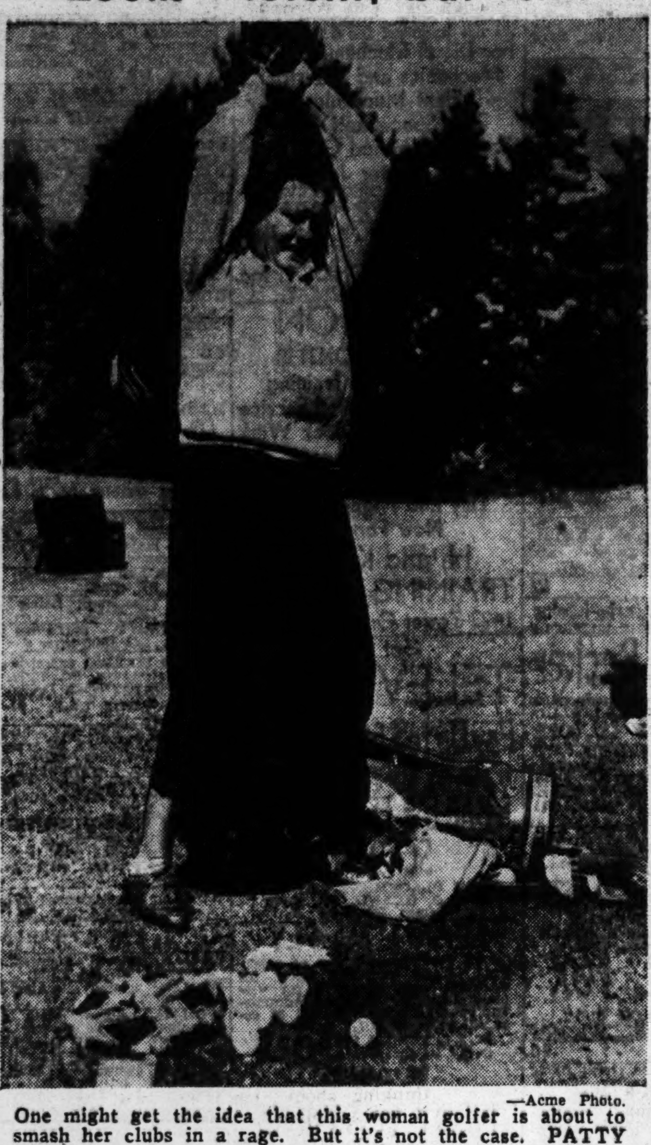
Looks Violent, but Isn't



—Acme Photo.

One might get the idea that this woman golfer is about to smash her clubs in a rage. But it's not the case. PATTY BERG merely is going through a limbering-up exercise at Sunningdale golf course in England. She is a member of a team of six American professionals now touring Great Britain.

Can Joe DiMag Do It Again?

Yankee Clipper Has Made Habit of Coming Back After Many Thought Him Through.

NEW YORK, July 14 (UP)—This is old stuff for Joe Dimaggio, who has made more comebacks than any player in baseball.

Who's to say he can't do it again?

The odds are piling up against the fabulous Yankee Clipper as the years roll by but his record of comebacks is amazing and you can't count him out until he hangs up his spikes for good.

The big guy has been hurt by illness, injury or ill-advised hold-out in 12 of the 13 seasons he has been with the New York Yankees—and he still produced in a spectacular fashion, rating a $100,000 salary for the last three years.

DiMag pulled a leg muscle shortly before the All-Star game and went to the bench. Thereafter stories popped about strained relations between him and Manager Casey Stengel, between him and his teammates.

Came Back With Bang.

An almost identical tale of tension came out of Detroit last August when Stengel dropped Joe out of the cleanup spot in the batting order. Hobbled by injuries, one of which he had aggravated in the All Star game, DiMag considered quitting.

But he kept going, bounced back with a .400 batting average over the last six weeks of the pennant drive and helped vitally in putting his club in the world series.

Then he won the second game of the series against the Philadelphia Phillies with a 10th inning homer off Robin Roberts.

The Clipper actually had only one season—in 1948—that didn't require a comeback. He went the distance that year, despite minor ailments. In every other year, something always happened.

Joe joined the Yankees in 1936 for spring training and promptly injured a foot. Taking too heavy a dose from a heat lamp, Joe was burned so badly he missed the rest of spring training and the first 17 games of the season. He had to make a "comeback" even before he arrived.

The next year he had shoulder pains and had his tonsils yanked to cure the trouble. He missed several games. In 1938, he held out and missed all of spring training, plus 12 days of the season. In '39, it was a foot injury, received in a crash with Joe Gordon, that benched him for 34 games.

A bad knee shelved him for 22 games in 1940 and 15 in 1941. In the spring of '42 his throwing arm gave out but it came back enough to last out the season.

Heel Gives Him Trouble.

After coming out of the Army, DiMag made a faulty slide into third base in a 1946 game and lost a month. A heel operation cost him spring training and a week in '47. He had bone chips removed from his throwing arm in the off-season and was okay in '48.

In '49, another heel acted up in spring training and Joe was declared washed up. But he broke into the lineup against the Boston Red Sox on June 29 and won the game with a homer. He won another with a homer on June 30. Then late in the year he came out of a sick bed to help win the pennant.

And last year he made his grand comeback the last few weeks after difficulties almost identical with those of the moment. There may be another one left in him.

Flam Extended To 5 Sets by Japanese Ace

CHICAGO, July 14 (AP)—The two top-seeded stars of the National Clay Courts Tennis championships, Art Larsen and Herb Flam, meet today in a semi-final match.

The other semi-finalists in the men's singles are Tony Trabert of Cincinnati and Straight Clark of Pasadena.

Larsen, of San Leandro, Calif., seeded No. 1, beat Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La. the nation's No. 1 junior, in yesterday's quarter-final action, 6-4, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4.

Flam, of Beverly Hills, Calif., seeded second, had to go five sets to overcome Japan's leading player, Jiro Kumamaru, 3-6, 6-2, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4.

Trabert, the intercollegiate titleholder, beat the other remaining entry of the Japanese Davis Cup squad Fuymteru Nakano, 6-4, 6-0, 6-1.

Clark defeated Grant Golden of Wilmette, former Big Ten champ, 6-2, 6-3, 0-6, 6-4.

The three top seeded players in the women's singles still were around for today's semifinals. Beverly Baker of Santa Monica, Calif., No. 1, faces Dorothy Head of Alameda, Calif., and Patricia Canning Todd, of LaJolla, Calif., No. 2, meets third-seeded Magda Rurac of Winnetka, Ill.

Semifinals in the men's doubles also will be played today with all topseeded pairs still in action, including Flam-Larsen, seeded first, and Clark and Harold Burrows, Charlottesville, Va., seeded second.

The women's doubles final sends Dorothy Head, Alameda, Calif., and Anita Kanter, Santa Monica, Calif., against Miss Rurac and Pat Todd.

Plug Horse Card At Fairmount

This will be plug-horse night at Fairmount race track when the East St. Louis Junior Chamber of Commerce puts on its second annual program for the benefit of the Youth Fund.

There will be nine races with the first to start at 8 o'clock. Topping off the card is the Plug Horse Derby.

Conditions prevailing throughout the program are that none of the entries shall bear the slightest resemblance to thoroughbred or standard-bred animals. All horses must weigh 1175 pounds or more.

The eighth race will bring together mules, and Bill Veeck, president of the Browns, has promised to award a wreath of carrots to the winner.

Quick Work by Small.

WEEK'S MARKED STOCK GAINS ON LIGHT TRADE

NEW YORK, July 14 (UP)—Trading on the Stock Exchange during the past week fell off to the lightest level since the week ended Sept. 3, 1949. At the same time, prices moved up steadily. The industrial average gained 4.31 points and the rails about 75 cents. Utilities rose 62 cents. (All Dow-Jones figures.)

The list has risen in seven out of the eight sessions that followed June 29, the day the industrial average broke the March resistance level which the chartists indicated a bear market. In that period the list has gained in value of all listed shares a total of around four billion dollars.

Impetus for Steady Upturn.

Impetus for the steady upturn was traced to anticipation of a truce in Korea—but a truce accompanied by continuation of the war effort. Several highly favorable reports appeared and some good dividend declarations helped individual stocks in particular and the market in general. The market made its best showing on Friday when the aircrafts joined the upturn with some show of vigor. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. asked for a 58 per cent rise in our air force. Stocks of the various companies moved up sharply.

Trading picked up as the week wore on but it was nothing like the quantity that usually accompanies a market of the strength this one showed.

Selective buying went ahead. Strong groups included, the tire, chemical, and building. Utilities did better, notably the natural gas issues. Oils enjoyed several good markets. Sugars moved up on news the price for this staple will hold high.

Rise in Steel Shares.

Steels rose on outlook for good earnings reports. Iran continued in the news but this ticklish middle east problem appeared to have played itself out as a factor for the oils. Experts said the United States could supply Britian with oil in event Iran was cut off and added that there would be no need to ration supplies.

For a time early in the week, the general list held to a very narrow range with volume light. Traders felt their way, and later on when the market held its own they resumed buying. But there was no promiscuous purchasing. Rather the tendency was to try to select growth stocks which have been recommended for some time by the experts.

Transactions for the week totaled 5,440,840 shares, a daily average of only 1,088,168 shares. Bonds firmed with stocks with Japanese issues the strong features. Commodities firmed in several sessions.

HOGS, CATTLE AND LAMBS RECORD LOSSES FOR WEEK

ST. LOUIS LIVESTOCK EXCHANGE, July 14—Hog receipts 60; too few to make a market. Cattle and sheep receipts none. It was suggested that absence of normal hog offerings may have been due to Friday's price break or to farmers being busy in field because of recent rains.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, July 14 (USDA weekly review of livestock market).

Moderately increased supplies of cattle encountered pressure, but steers and heifers closed the week Friday near steady to 50c lower, other classes generally steady on week. Vealers declined $1 in Friday session. Prime 1322-lb steers topped at $37.75 with prime 1001-lb steers $36.25. Prime 1030-lb mixed steers and heifers claimed $36 and 795-lb heifers $35.50. Good and choice steers and heifers mainly $31.50@36, utility and commercials $26.50@31. Utility and commercial cows mostly $23@28.50, a few $30@29.50 with canners and cutters $18@23 and light shells $16@17.50. Commercial bulls sold largely $28@29.50, odd head yearling bulls $30 and above, with utility bulls $25.50@27.50. Prime vealers held to a top of $39 most of week, closing at $38 with good and choice for the week $32@37, utility and commercial $25@30, with culls around $20@23.

Larger supplies forced hog prices downward 75c@$1 to the lowest level since June 14. Top prices this week ranged from $22.65 Friday to $23.50 Monday. For the week bulk of 180 to 230 lb barrows and gilts sold $22.50@23.25, 240 to 270 lb, $21.75@22.50, 270 to 300 lb, $21.10@22.25, 140 to 170 lb $20.50@22.50 and 100 to 130 lb pigs $17.25@20.50. Sows topped for the week at $19.75, late $18.75 down with bulk for the week $16.75@19.50.

Compared with last Friday, choice and prime spring lambs were 50c@$1 lower, other grades $1 lower, extremes more; yearlings $1@2 lower; aged sheep mostly steady, except for sharp seasonal discrimination against heavy ewes; marketings of spring lambs rose sharply for week with increase made up of large number of poorly finished lambs not ready to come; bulk good to prime springers $31@32.50 for week but numerous late sales merely good grade down to $30; late top $32; throwouts mostly $23@25; culls down to $20 and below, extremes only $15 on very light culls; two decks good yearling wethers, No. 1 skins, $27.50@27.75; bulk slaughter ewes $12@15; culls $9@12.

LIVESTOCK ELSEWHERE

CHICAGO, July 14 (USDA)—Salable hogs 500, total 1500 (estimated); compared week ago: butchers under 300 lbs unevenly 25@50c lower; around 300 lbs and over 75c@$1 lower; sows 75c@$1.25 lower, mostly $1 off; the closing top of $23.15, up 15 cents from the week's low point, was 25 cents under a week ago. Closing bulk choice 180-230 lb butchers, $22.50@23; 230-250 lbs, $22@22.75; 260-300 lbs, $20.50@22; sows, 400 lbs and less, $18.25@19.75, few $20@20.25; 400-500 lbs, $17.25@18.25; 500-600 lbs, $16.75@17.50.

Salable cattle 200 (estimated); total not given; compared week ago: receipts among the largest of the year to date, Monday's run largest for any day since October, 1950; largely a fed steer run with choice and prime grades predominating; slaughter steers and heifers weak to 75c lower, mostly 50c off; cows steady to 25c higher; bulls extremely scarce, 50c to mostly $1 higher; vealers $1 lower; stock cattle steady; few loads prime medium weight fed steers $38.40@38.50, top $38.75 for load high prime 1227 lb. weights, bulk high choice and prime fed steers $35.75@38.25, low prime 1500 lb. weights $37.25, bulk good and choice fed steers and yearlings $32@35.50, commercial to low good grades $29@31.50; good to prime vealers $35@39, late top $38; most cull to commercial grades $27@34.

Salable sheep none; no total; compared week ago: native spring lambs 50c@$1 lower, cull and utility grades off most; shorn lambs and yearlings $1@1.50 lower, at new low on crop; this likewise true of sheep, fat slaughter ewes generally $1@2 lower, with culls at least $4 down; early top native spring lambs $33; closing top $32, with big packer paying $31.50; weekend bulk good to choice $30.50@32; late bulk old crop No. 1 skin lambs and yearlings $27@28.50.

COMMODITY INDEX DROPS ELEVENTH WEEK IN A ROW

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—Wholesale commodity prices as a whole declined this week for the eleventh week in a row—to the lowest average level since last Nov. 29, the Associated Press index showed today. At 196.90 the index compared with 199.47 last week and with 178.73 a year ago. The base year of this index of 35 important commodity prices is 1926, which equals 100.

Three of the six commodity groups represented in the index fell to new lows for the year to date—industrials, grains and cotton, and textiles. Also lower than last week was livestock. Nonferrous metals were unchanged. Only the food component moved higher, by a small margin.

The index, with comparable figures for last week and a year ago, follows:

	July 13.	Week Ago.	Year Ago.
35 commodities	†196.90	199.47	178.73
Industrials	†196.16	193.79	171.72

Flood Closes K.C. Board.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 14 (AP)—The Kansas City Board of Trade, a major market normally open on Saturday, suspended trading today because of the flood.

Francis J. Fitzpatrick, president of the board, said a meeting will be held later today to decide whether trading would be resumed Monday.

Because of floodwater surrounding the Rock Island elevator, operated by the Simonds-Shields-Theis Grain Co., and the Santa Fe elevator, operated by the Tex-O-Kan flour mills, the directors voted to declare those installations "irregular." That means warehouse receipts of those elevators would not be legal tender on contracts between members.

St. Louis Cash Grain.

'NO. 1 FUGITIVE FROM NARCOTICS BUREAU' ARRESTED

NEW YORK, July 14 (AP)—A man described by Government officials as "the No. 1 fugitive from the Bureau of Narcotics" and "a former member of the Lucky Luciano mob" was arrested today.

United States Attorney Louis Kaplan identified him as Joseph Dentico, 55 years old, of the Bronx, and said he supervised distribution throughout the United States of narcotics smuggled from Italy.

Kaplan said Dentico was arrested with Angilina Tritto, 47, a divorcee with whom Dentico had been living. She was charged with harboring a fugitive, Kaplan said.

Kaplan said Dentico's arrest ended a search that began seven years ago when he was indicted on a charge of conspiring to violate narcotics laws.

Dentico worked with the Lucky Luciano mob in the narcotic traffic in East Harlem before Luciano was deported to Italy, Kaplan said.

Luciano frequently has been accused of operating a narcotics trade between Italy and the United States, but this has not been proved.

SUES HIGHLANDS FOR $25,000 FOR INJURIES FROM BULLET

Suit for $25,000 damages for injuries suffered when she allegedly was struck in the right arm by a stray bullet from the shooting gallery at Forest Park Highlands was filed in circuit court today by Miss Virginia Bastian, 4960A Tholozan avenue, against St. Louis Arena Corp., operators of the amusement park.

Miss Bastian was driving golf balls at the Highland Golfing Tee, 1201 Macklind avenue, June 8, 1950, when a bullet from a .22-caliber rifle struck her in the right forearm, the petition set out. She alleged the bullet came from the amusement park's shooting gallery, the backstop of which is some 1000 feet from the golf tee where she was struck.

She charged negligence on the part of the amusement park operators and alleged the bullet wound resulted in diminished use of the arm and affected her earning power. She was a registered nurse employed at St. Louis Children's Hospital at the time.

15 Soldiers Hurt in Blast.

HONOLULU, July 14 (AP)—A premature mortar blast injured 15 Army infantrymen at Schofield barracks yesterday. An Army spokesman said all injuries were minor, consisting of cuts and scratches.

TROOPS, POLICE FORM CICERO DEFENSE LINE

No Attempts Made to Crash Barrier at Scene of Race Disturbance.

CICERO, Ill., July 14 (AP)—Soldiers' bayonets, barbed wire barricades and roving police squads formed a defense line today to maintain peace and order in Cicero's riot front.

No attempts were made to crash the line in the area of the apartment building where a Negro family had rented a flat, touching off the disorders.

No Negroes live in Cicero, a community of 70,000 west of Chicago.

Police broke up any small groups which formed last night within four blocks of the apartment building which had been stormed by a riotous mob on Thursday night. There also were disorders at the building Tuesday and Wednesday, before arrival of the soldiers.

Persons disobeying orders to "keep moving" were picked up and taken to the Cicero police station. About 70 were seized during the night. Thirty nine were charged with unlawful assembly. The others, including 15 youths, were released.

Harvey E. Clark Jr., 29-year-old Negro bus driver and the central figure in the trouble, said he believes investigators "will find the Communist element behind it." Clark and his attorney, George C. Adams, said they had discussed the case with the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Police Break Up Race Disturbance at Maryland Night Club.

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—Police in suburban Capitol Heights, Md., used tear gas last night to break up an unruly crowd at a night club attempting to open on a non-segregated basis.

Police estimated the crowd at about 400 persons around the Chickland night club. Mayor Harvey Ennis of Capitol Heights joined police in emptying the club. Hyattsville (Md.) police said all their squad cars had been sent to the scene.

Officers said the disturbance started when about 40 young men began using profanity toward mixed Negro and white couples at the establishment. Then glasses were thrown, firecrackers shot off, and the glass in the front door was broken.

The disturbance broke out shortly before midnight. It was the second time in two weeks that the Chickland had attempted to open on a non-segregated basis.

ECCLES'S RESIGNATION TAKES EFFECT ON RESERVE BOARD

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—Marriner S. Eccles's resignation from the Federal Reserve Board became effective yesterday, but friends and associates gave him a hint that they expect him to return some time to Government service.

Along with a silver bowl and other gifts, they presented him a facsimile railroad ticket, one-way from his home in Salt Lake City to Washington, labeled "good for two years."

There has been speculation that the millionaire banker, a frequent critic of administration economic policies, might seek the Republican senatorial nomination from Utah in 1952.

U.S. EDUCATOR GOES TO KOREA TO ASSIST PRESIDENT RHEE

PUSAN, Korea, July 14 (UP)—Dr. Robert T. Oliver, Pennsylvania educator and long-time friend of Korean President Syngman Rhee, arrived here today to assist Rhee in "Korea's critical period."

Oliver took a leave of absence from his post as head of the department of speech at Pennsylvania State College to serve the Korean Government in a yet unannounced capacity.

The 42-year-old educator was associated with Rhee in the United States during the Japanese occupation of Korea and served in Korea in 1946 and 1949.

STABBED WALKING IN ALLEY

Arthur DeVere, 615 Walnut street, suffered stab wounds of the face, left chest and left arm last night when he was attacked by a man in the alley at the rear of 6 North Seventh street, police reported.

He told police he was walking in the alley when the man stopped him and asked if he had a match. When DeVere said he had no match, the man said "I don't like you" and stabbed him with a pocket knife, DeVere reported.

NUDISTS TO HOLD STYLE SHOW

MAYS LANDING, N.J., July 14 (AP)—A nudist group will hold a fashion show here today.

Clothes to be modeled at the show "are all designed for quick and easy removal once the wearer is safely inside a nudist camp," a group spokesman said. The group, the Eastern Sunbathing Association, is holding its annual convention here.

DOCTOR IS INDICTED IN DEATH OF RICH BENEFACTRESS, 74

Manslaughter Charge Based on 'Reckless' Use of Drugs—Another Physician Is Cleared

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 14 (AP)—Dr. Donald F. Gibson, 49 years old, has been indicted for manslaughter in the death of a wealthy, 74-year-old spinster who made him her heir.

A Fairfield county grand jury said Dr. Gibson, of Danbury, caused the death last July 26 of Miss Elizabeth M. Ayres, also of Danbury, "by the reckless and grossly negligent administration of drugs."

The same jury, in its action here yesterday, made no charges against another Danbury physician, Dr. Frank T. Genovese, who also had been mentioned in the affair.

In the brief indictment, the grand jury made no reference to motives. However, a coroner's finding previously charged that Gibson hastened Miss Ayres' death to obtain her property and to free himself of an amorous entanglement with the spinster.

The finding by Theodore E. Steiber, who conducted an inquest before resigning as coroner, pointed out that Gibson was married to his office nurse, Mrs. Frank Wetmore, the day after Miss Ayres' funeral.

Miss Ayres' death left Gibson in sole control of real estate the two had held jointly under survivorship deeds. The coroner's finding also said Gibson had "denuded" Miss Ayres' bank account.

The grand jury action, following a three-day investigation, left Gibson dazed and silent, Genovese tearful and exuberant.

Genovese had been called in by Gibson as Miss Ayres' attending physician in her last illness. The coroner's finding said Genovese had signed a death certificate leaving "the date and hour of death in blank."

Gibson was released over the weekend in the custody of his lawyers. Service of a bench warrant for his arrest, and the subsequent posting of $5000 bail, was postponed until Monday morning.

Trial is expected to come up in September. Gibson faces a possible 15-year prison sentence if convicted on the manslaughter count.

ODM IS WARNED ALCOA STRIKE MAY HALT PLANE OUTPUT

The New York Herald Tribune - Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 14—Possibilty of a shutdown in critical aircraft and aero-engine industries was foreseen today as a strike in the nation's largest aluminum foundry moved into its fifth week.

High officials of the Office of Defense Mobilization have been alerted by aircraft manufacturers to the danger of a general shutdown owing to failure of the supply of air-frame sections, propeller blades, forged aluminum pistons, crankcase sections and other vital components. Lack of these components is "a production line stopper," officials said.

The dispute closed down operations of the Alcoa forging plant at Cleveland, O., last June 11, when about 2400 workers went out over a question of a 3-cent-an-hour pay rise which the CIO United Auto Workers Union wanted to make retroactive to last December. The company has consented to the increase but wants it to apply currently.

One Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service official said yesterday afternoon that if no solution is found next week, the stoppage is likely to have widespread effects.

FCC REJECTS CHALLENGES TO PLAN FOR TV CHANNELS

WASHINGTON, July 14 (UP)—The Federal Communications Commission has formally rejected challenges to the legality of its plan to allocate new television channels on a regional basis.

The FCC plan to allocate a specific number of channels to each area had come under fire from the Federal Communications Bar Association and Chairman Edwin C. Johnson (Dem.), Colorado, of the Senate Commerce Committee.

All of the new channels to be allocated are in the very high frequency and ultra-high frequency bands. As soon as the allocation task is completed, the FCC plans to lift its freeze on construction of new TV stations.

STATE EMPLOYES INCLUDED IN U.S. SOCIAL SECURITY

JEFFERSON CITY, July 14 (AP)—All state employes in Missouri are now officially covered by Federal Old Age Social Security provisions. The agreement between federal and state governments to extend Social Security coverage to state workers was signed today.

The agreement puts into effect a bill passed this spring by the Missouri Legislature. Under its terms coverage by the federal act is automatically extended to all state workers. Governing bodies of local political subdivisions can elect to bring their employes under the act.

TV HELD TO BOOST SALES OF MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Television has helped, rather than retarded, sales of musical instruments despite predictions to the contrary, W. P. Chrisler, president of the Aeolian Co. of Missouri, said yesterday as he prepared to leave for the Chicago convention of the National Association of Music Merchants. He is a director.

Chrisler said he believed the increase in musical instrument sales in TV areas is due to the fact that "seeing an instrument played creates a desire to play it."

'A Teen-Age Mix-Up

They're Out of Focus On the TV Screen

By John Crosby

NEW YORK, July 14.

I'M a little mixed up about teen-agers who, I think, are conceivably under too much scrutiny for their own good. In the public prints the teen-ager is either taking heroin or throwing basketball games in the Garden. On the Henry Aldrich program, the teen-age boy is a driveling idiot who wouldn't know how to punch a needle in his arm. Drop into the Broadhurst Theater and you'll meet the most callow teen-ager of them all, Willie Baxter, of Booth Tarkington's ancient novel "Seventeen," which sneaked into town disguised as a musical comedy.

JOHN CROSBY

Just possibly all these conflicting accounts are accurate in their separate contexts which just goes to show that the teen-ager is as various and variable as the rest of us and shouldn't be lumped into a single convenient category. The teen-ager is getting his share of attention on television on half a dozen shows, all of which are aimed at teens and many of which are staffed by them. That last may be a mistake. In radio, the teen-agers were generally played by veterans who were a lot older than their voices. (Ezra Stone, who plays Henry Aldrich on the radio, is 32.)

ON TELEVISION you get the teen-ager, unalloyed by experience and, in many cases, by intelligence. The professionals among them—the singers, the dancers—are not yet tree-ripened, a phrase I picked up from an advertising genius who shared a fig newton with me the other day. The amateurs—the non-singers, non-dancers—haven't anything very interesting to say—to me, at least, though the teen trade may love the stuff. You'll find both the amateurs and the pros on Jimmy Blaine's "Junior Edition" on ABC-TV, a show I've watched more often than would be by my normal wont simply because my wife, Mary Crosby, happens to be on it. The information Mr. Blaine and Mrs. C. dredge out of these kids concerning their fan clubs, their dogs and their other enthusiasms is, I suppose, accurate, relevant and just possibly important to the junior misses and junior misters. To me, it is rather dim, far away and hopelessly immaterial to anything in my environment.

Another much older teen-age show of, by and for teens is "Paul Whiteman's TV Teen Club," also on ABC, which goes in for teen stuff more extensively than anyone else. This one has a rather odd social history. Pop Whiteman, one of the town fathers of Lambertville, N.J., which adjoins his farm, was consulted by the other town fathers about growing juvenile delinquency in the area. Mr. Whiteman rose to the emergency by throwing a series of teen-age dances in a local church. They were so successful that he decided to project the idea into a TV show.

RIGHT HERE I think he went astray. The "TV Teen Club," a title which occasionally keeps me awake nights, is a procession of amateurs who sing, dance, play harmonicas, do imitations of Groucho Marx and in general make the night hideous with hue and cry of a decidedly unprofessional nature. It emanates from Town Hall in Philadelphia before an audience composed entirely of the teen crowd, whose appreciation—expressed by wild applause, animal cries and wolf whistles—punctuates and frequently drowns out the show.

Both the audience and the performers have a whip of a time but I'm not sure anyone at home will. That is, unless you are a collector of young girls who can imitate the Andrews Sisters, which isn't among my hobbies. Mr. Whiteman's connection with all this is tenuous. He sits next to a mistress of ceremonies who explains what is coming on next. "Oh yeah! Oh yeah! That's really wonderful," says Pop when informed about the next act. "How about that?" he exclaims after it's over. That's about all he says.

THE FIRST MISTRESS of ceremonies was Margo Whiteman, Pop's daughter, who got married and gave up the teen-age world presumably forever. The current one is Nancy Lewis, a blonde. Recently—the teen-age well having just possibly run dry—"TV Teen Club" reached way down into the bottom drawer and came up with small children, age 4 and upwards. One 4-year-old girl last week sang a song called, "I'm Just a Square in a Social Circle" which contained a line: "Her daughter is a Frankenstein in mink." Fine thing for a 4-year-old to be singing. Then there was a high-kicking chorus line of scantily clad girls who may well have driven the juvenile delinquency rate in Lambertville to a new high.

The show is sponsored by Nash Airflyte and Kelvinator and the commercials are conducted in hep talk which I can understand but can't speak. This is the first inkling I've had that the automobile and refrigerator people were after the teen-age crowd. My allowance never got into that bracket and hasn't to this day.

Hardway to Remember.

HARTFORD, Conn. — If an East Hartford man ever forgets his telephone number, all he has to do is count his teeth.

A dentist jokingly told Charles Frosch that he was going to give him a lucky number by counting the teeth between spaces.

On the uppers, the dentist counted eight teeth with no spaces.

On the lower set, the dentist counted one tooth—space—three teeth—space—five teeth—space one tooth—space.

"You can close your mouth now," the dentist told the patient.

Frosch couldn't. Surprise locked his jaw.

The dentist had just given him his telephone number—8-1351.

Water Men Floodbound.

DENVER — The Federal Reclamation Bureau sent two hydrologists to Kansas to check on the extent of last week's heavy rains.

They are finding out. The Bureau heard the hydrologists, Ed Kramer of Denver and Marion Ball of McCook, Nebr., are marooned somewhere in the Emporia area by the latest floods.

Lively 'Belt.'

PETERSBURG, Ind. — That black belt that eight-year-old Johnny Ashcroft reached for in his mother's dishpan wasn't a belt. It slithered out of the pan and Johnny's father killed it with a butcher knife. It was a five-foot chicken snake.

SENATE CHECKS WHETHER U.S. AUTOS ARE MARKED 'OFFICIAL'

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—A Senate committee has ordered a check on all Government-owned automobiles and trucks to learn if they are marked "for official use only" as required by a law Congress passed last year.

The Senate Expenditures Committee asked the General Services Administration yesterday to make the check and report to it. The GSA is the Government's "housekeeping" agency.

Martha Carr's OPINION

REG U S PAT OFF

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM a girl of 15 and in love with a boy a year older than I am. I'm not sure it's real love but I do like him very much although he doesn't know it. He knows me by name and I've been introduced to him but I would like to know him better. I have wanted to give a party and invite him, but under certain circumstances find it very difficult to do so. I would give anything to know him better but can't seem to find a way. What should I do? I CARE.

Fifteen is a bit young to be falling in love. In fact, if this boy knew that you fancied yourself "in love" with him, he would probably run the other way. When you are around him be pleasant and natural. And if you want to give a party and invite him, treat him exactly the same as you treat other young boys in your crowd. Under no circumstances let him know that you are giving the party as a means of being in his company. A little independence on your part will probably attract this boy more than giving a party as an excuse to bring him into your company.

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM IN my early teens and have been going with a boy for about seven months now. During this time he has been over to my house about five times and that was to take me to parties. I meet him at the show every Friday night. His mother cannot use her right hand, so he tells me he has to stay home and help her all the time, although he does find time to be with his friends, go swimming and fishing and do other things too. I like him very much and he says he likes me, too, but if he really does, why doesn't he ever come over? Am I being played for a fool? Please help me as I don't know what to do. DEE.

I don't see why you should think you are being "played for a fool." You should respect this boy for the help he is giving his mother and admire him because he takes an interest in sports such as swimming and fishing. It is a healthy sign when young boys enjoy activities away from the company of girls. You cannot expect to monopolize his time. Let him know that you are always glad to see him when he has the time and that you admire him for helping his mother and appreciate his interest in sports. He will probably take more interest in you when he realizes that you are a girl who understands him.

Varicose Veins

By Glen R. Shepherd, M. D.

VARIOUS scientists who study the history of man's development have suggested that our rise to the vertical position is the cause of several diseases. Varicose veins certainly are in the class of disabilities due in part to excessive standing on your feet. Since a return to walking on all fours in the physical sense seems unlikely, other methods of dealing with varicose veins have to be devised.

Until doctors learned the various anatomical causes for varicose veins, their treatment gave poor results. But with present knowledge, that is no longer true.

Normal veins become varicose, thickened and swollen with blood, because little valves, which normally prevent blood from going the wrong way are defective.

★ ★ ★

THE JOB OF VEINS is to carry blood back toward the heart. They are normally fitted with little flaps of tissue on the inner lining which lets the blood go toward the heart but closes when the blood tries to return where it came from. Your muscles massage the blood in the veins, pressing it ever onward toward the heart. The little valves normally prevent its returning. When the valves in a vein fail, it becomes a varicose vein. It is longer and larger around than normal healthy veins.

When the blood no longer flows just one way—back to the heart—in a vein, it becomes congested and liquid seeps out into the tissues drained by the vein. This causes swelling and water logging of the leg and ankle, where most varicose veins occur. This lessens the food and oxygen supply to the tissue, with the color change in the skin so common with varicose veins. Resistance to infection is cut down, with ulcers occurring commonly around the ankle after years of increasingly worse venous return.

THE PURPOSE of treatment is eliminating the leaky vein valve, or if there are too many leaky valves, removing the bogged-down vein entirely. Because there are so many valves which could be leaking and so many inter-connections between veins, each case is a separate problem.

In some, tying off the vein just below the leaky valve by surgery will do the job. Sometimes injection with an irritating solution which scars the vein and eliminates it from the circulation is necessary. Or, the vein may be cut out by surgery, But before any treatment is done, the situation with the veins must be studied, the circulation tested, and the defective valves found as well as possible.

Wearing of elastic stockings or bandages to collapse the veins is often helpful and is usually necessary before other treatment is done.

In spite of the most careful study and treatment, a few varicose veins return. This happens much less often now than formerly.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

A BRIDE-TO-BE asks: "Is the father of the bride considered a wedding attendant, and if so, should he be given the same kind of gift my fiance is giving to his ushers and best man?"

The word "attendant" is no more suitable to describe the father of the bride than to describe the clergyman. It is true that he takes no part in the ceremony. But instead of being given anything, he pays all wedding expenses except the presents to the ushers and the fee to the clergyman.

★ ★ ★

DEAR MRS. POST: My husband and I usually prefer to be seated together. But I believe you have said that on some occasions it is not considered correct. I know that it is not in good taste to display affection in public but I don't think that being seated together should be considered as such.

Answer: Very seldom are husbands and wives seated together. To sit together at one side of your own table and place your guests on either side of, and opposite, you, or to ask to sit together at the tables of your friends would certainly be very strange behavior.

★ ★ ★

DEAR MRS. POST: What is expected of a young man who is invited to a tea dance for a debutante?

Answer: The most important asset he can have is to dance well. Further than that he is expected to be polite and agreeable.

★ ★ ★

DEAR MRS. POST: Would it be permissible—even preferred—to send an informal personal note in thanks for a wedding cake?

Answer: If it is a gift, certainly. Even if it is one ordered from your baker who made an especially beautiful one, a letter of appreciation is always proper to send, and, of course, pleasing to receive.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

THERE are obvious advantages in high shut-out bids, but there are also disadvantages. Most notably, these shut-out bids provide the enemy with a wealth of information concerning the location of cards. Take today's deel for example. Certainly, West's opening bid alone should have given South the key to his own line of play.

West, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
3♠	Pass	Pass	4♥
Pass	Pass	Pass

South had a good hand, but his four-heart overcall was nevertheless a blind stab which carried great risk. The more logical action was to double three spades—a double which would be left in by North if his hand called for it, but taken out to any long suit North might hold.

East, as he said later, was tempted to double the four-heart bid when it came around to him, but his holding warranted only limited optimism—enough for a pass, but not enough for a double.

West laid down the king and ace of spades. South ruffed, cashed his two high trumps, then ran off his solid clubs, discarding a diamond from dummy. East did not fall into the error of ruffing the fourth club with his high trump—he meekly discarded the three of diamonds. Apparently, this led declarer to his own destruction. He led a low diamond to dummy's queen, doubtless hoping that West had the ace, in which case South could ruff his own third diamond. Things did not work out that way, however. East took the diamond queen with the ace, cashed the high trump, and then returned the diamond jack. Down one!

It was inconceivable that West would have opened with three spades, holding a solid six-card suit and an outside ace. Thus, the diamond ace was marked with East. Instead of leading the diamond, South should have thrown East in with the trump after cashing the club tricks, and East would have had to start the diamond suit!

Nature Is A Textbook For Humanity

By George M. Adams

NATURE is our great textbook. If we will study it faithfully we will learn more about the mysteries and wonders of life than any other source. There are perhaps no philosophers, no doctors or scientists among those of wild nature, but there are virtues there. There are leaders, too. And when an animal or bird is in trouble, I have seen others of its kind come to its aid.

There is striving in nature. All are on their own. Each is a specialist and so lives out his life apparently happy without worry. And note how play enters into the life of our friends in the outdoor world. They take time off for it, and our birds emphasize their happiness in song morning and night.

★ ★ ★

VERY EARLY after birth do the inhabitants of nature teach their young to be independent and self-suporting. There is striving among both young and old, and it is continuous as a program of life. The Creator made all the living ones in nature self-protective. He did the same with us humans, but we get careless and forgetful—and then there are penalties.

There are secret powers within us all, about which we know nothing until we have explored within ourselves. Constant striving, day by day, opens up new visions and new avenues of approach, and we are stimulated to go just a little farther than we ever have before. There are always surprises ahead, too! Faithful striving toward a worthy objective always brings its merited reward.

★ ★ ★

IT HAS BEEN this constant striving on the part of people of faith that has given us all the progress and comforts that we enjoy today. And no one can predict the future. No one ever has. There have been only guesses. It was constant striving that finally produced television, and what its future impact upon society is to be, no one can say. We do know that it has possibilities that are not yet revealed.

Many of us are tempted to give up on something that has engaged our time for a long period. At such a time we should bear in mind the names of those who did not give up, who went right ahead, never doubting but what the end would be one of triumph.

Senator Soaper Says:

A New York newspaper woman makes a book of what she told the psychoanalyst. And we wonder at times about the analyst, going around with all those hot novels in his head.

Some records seem never to make the sports guides—like the one for traveling sideways in a summer resort porch rocker—40 feet in three hours.

The first signs of weakness appear in a widely held superstition that it will be Eisenhower versus Eisenhower in November 1952.

"I care not who writes our economic control policy," said Senator Quagmire yesterday, "just so's I can get the fine-print clauses."

Add Molasses To Milk for Tasty Drink

By Edith M. Barber

WHILE grownups have their iced coffee, children can have their milkshakes. Flavored milk is just as good for children as is plain milk, and they sometimes like it better for a change. Many different additions may be made successfully, but molasses adds color, as well as flavor, and incidentally supplies that extra iron that is often valuable.

The simplest type of milkshake is made by merely stirring two tablespoons of molasses with a cup of milk and pouring it over ice cubes. Or, it may be beaten with a rotary beater and a little spice added, if you like. Ripe bananas combine well with milk and molasses, and the children love the flavor. If you want a particularly nutritious drink, the milk and the molasses may be added to a beaten egg yolk, then a stiffly beaten egg white may be folded into the mixture.

Another popular and colorful combination that the children approve is called purple cow, and the necessary ingredient is grape juice, either bottled or frozen concentrate. As a final touch, a small ball of ice cream may be added to either the molasses or grape-juice drink. Another suggestion for flavoring milk is the use of the apricot nector that has sucha delicate but characteristic flavor.

Molasses Milk Shake.

Into one cup of milk stir two tablespoons molasses.

Foamy Molasses Shake.

To recipe above, add cinnamon, mace or nutmeg to taste. Beat with a rotary beater or shake until foamy and serve at once.

Molasses Banana Milk Shake.

Peel one medium fully ripe banana. Break with fork and mash until smooth. Add two tablespoons molasses, few grains nutmeg and one cup cold milk. Shake and serve.

Molasses Malted.

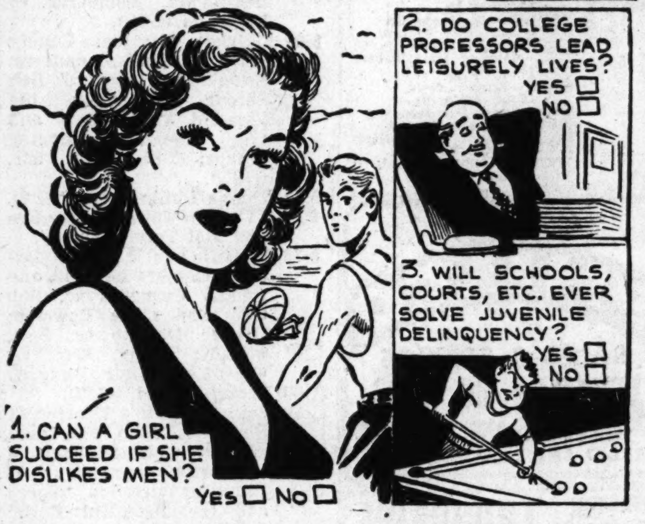
Blend two tablespoons molasses with three tablespoons malted milk powder. Gradually add one cup milk, beating with rotary beater. Serve at once.

Molasses Egg Nog.

Beat one egg yolk. Add two tablespoons New Orleans molasses and one cup cold milk. Beat one egg white until stiff with few grains each nutmeg and salt. Fold into milk mixture. Serve at once.

Let's Explore Your Mind

By Albert Edward Wiggam, D. Sc.



1. CAN A GIRL SUCCEED IF SHE DISLIKES MEN? YES ☐ NO ☐
2. DO COLLEGE PROFESSORS LEAD LEISURELY LIVES? YES ☐ NO ☐
3. WILL SCHOOLS, COURTS, ETC. EVER SOLVE JUVENILE DELINQUENCY? YES ☐ NO ☐

Answer to Question No. 1.

1. No, she might pull through alive, but a woman can't succeed if she doesn't like half of the human race. Unless a girl likes boys in a wholesome way, she can't pick out the best man for keeps. Neither man nor woman can develop a well-rounded personality without a sound, sensible liking for the opposite sex. Our booklet, "How To Be Popular," sent at cost, 15 cents (coin only), plus self-addressed, stamped envelope. Write me in care of the Post-Dispatch.

Answer to Question No. 2.

2. No, judging from a survey by Educator Victor Randolph. When you add to the 14 teaching hours the 12 hours of preparation, five hours of research, four hours of student conferences, three hours of professional reading, two hours of faculty meetings, five hours of office work, and hours for various other duties, the "leisurely professor" works an average of 52 hours a week. Quite a contrast to the "leisurely life" of labor with its 40-hour week, usually with more pay.

Answer to Question No. 3.

3. No, according to Drs. Sheldon and Eleanor Glueck in their book, "Unraveling Juvenile Delinquency," in which is stated that over half the delinquents show their tendencies before reaching 8 years. They are restless, extroverted, aggressive, destructive. As children, they are hostile, suspicious, stubborn, adventurous and opposed to authority. Of course, many of them come from badly managed or broken homes that bring these traits into action.. The time to prevent delinquency is during the first eight years.

It Still Is a Smart Idea For Girl to Heed Parents

By RUTH MILLETT

IS a girl of 18 who has just finished high school old enough to know what is best for her? Or should she listen to her parents' advice when the question is as important as marriage?

I have a letter from a girl whose parents have always planned for her to go through college. But she has fallen in love with a boy of 20 and wants to marry him this summer. Her letter ends:

"I know what I want. What's the use of my going to college when I'm going to marry Bill some day, anyhow? Besides, if I go away to school he might find someone else."

Well, let's take those remarks in order. You know what you want, you say. Sure, you know what you want right now. You want to marry Bill. Because at 18 Bill looks like the most wonderful man in the world. But that doesn't mean that given a few more years of education, of more dating experience, and more of the maturity that comes with each passing year, you might not find someone who would be more nearly your ideal at age 25 or 30.

★ ★ ★

WHAT is the use of your going to college? For one thing, an education is a great privilege. Your parents are willing to give it to you and you should think a long time before turning it down. You wouldn't turn down a convertible if they offered you that as a gift, would you? Well, a college education is a much more important gift.

Yes, if you go away to school he might find someone else. But if he should, wouldn't that indicate that his love wasn't worth your sacrificing your chance at an education?

Eighteen is pretty young to be sure that you know what is best for you for life.

At least make a compromise with your parents. Agree to go away to college for one year, and then see how you and Bill feel about marriage. You won't be doing Bill any injustice. After all, 20 is pretty young to be taking on the responsibility of a wife.

5. The Yukon river empties into what sea?
6. Into what bay does the Ganges empty?
7. Do you know into which ocean the Mackenzie flows?
8. Does the Don flow into the Sea of Azov, the Black Sea or the Atlantic Ocean?

Answers

1. Mediferranean. 2. Black Sea. 3. Atlantic. 4. North Sea. 5. Bering Sea. 6. Bay of Bengal. 7. Artic Ocean. 8. Sea of Azov.

Your Child and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

IF PARENTS will be observant of their children's behavior they may come to recognize that some children—though not all—may never go to sleep as quietly and quickly as they should, but show some signs of tension before they relax themselves into slumber.

They may exhibit these tensions in various ways. One baby will not go to sleep without a thumb in mouth even though he has been well and satisfyingly fed.

Another baby may pluck at an ear or pull hair while another will get up and rock on hands and knees so that his crib goes all over the floor making a racket.

Another baby will roll his head back and forth rhythmically while still another will bang it on the sides of the crib until it seems he would bat out his brains. And some babies just seem to have to cry.

★ ★ ★

WHILE MOST of this behavior takes place when the baby is trying to go to sleep, it is possible for it to take place immediately after the baby wakes up.

There are various explanations for this behavior. One is that the baby needs more comforting parental attention not only during the day but at bedtime. Another is, of course, that this is just baby's way of relieving tensions and so the behavior should be undisturbed, since eventually it helps the baby to get to sleep.

In order that baby should not harm himself, some precautions may be necessary.

In the case of the thumb sucking or head rolling the baby needs no protection from these, but when he is batting his head against the crib sides, be sure that they are padded.

★ ★ ★

GIVE HIM a full dosage of affection and attention and, to check the bed rocking, put him on the floor in daytime so that he can practice creeping. It is often during the months when he is getting ready to creep that he is most apt to get up on hands and knees and rock the bed.

And when you've checked his diet, his vitamins, his necessary air, sunshine and exercise and found them satisfactory, be philosophical about the habit. Don't dream of punishing the child for his behavior for that increases his tensions, let him wear them out by his natural expression of them.

My Day -o- By Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK.

IN a vote in Congress the other day the Administration fortunately defeated a proposal made by Representative Jesse P. Wolcott, Republican of Michigan. This resolution said it was "the intention of Congress" to use direct controls only to the extent necessary to implement and supplement the anti-inflationary powers of the Secretary of the Treasury and the Federal Reserve Board.

The House also turned down an amendment, which had been approved by the Banking Committee, to bar imports of goods made from raw materials under priority allocation in this country. The Administration feared, of course, that this would divert to other markets, including Communist-controlled nations, many scarce foreign-made products needed by this nation.

Those who wanted to pass this amendment said it would protect small industries, such as watchmaking, from unfair foreign competition. It is true, of course, that Swiss people seem to be exceptionally good at making watches, but we have managed to find ways of using their skills and still make profits even in small businesses.

★ ★ ★

THE IDEA that little Switzerland and its watchmakers can really harm small business in the United States by unfair competition seems to me rather ludicrous. We survive and prosper because we know how to use to the best advantage what comes to us from other nations. Our workers have the best standard of living in the world, and our efforts should be to stimulate the other nations in the world to get better profits through better management and then to stimulate their workers to get a better share of those profits. In this way standards of living will go up in the other nations and we will have better markets for our goods.

Many things are made here that are neither as good nor as cheap as those made in other nations and I do not think we really need to worry about needing protection from Crongress.

We do, however, need to impress Congress with the fact that the people of this country understand that inflation is dangerous and that we want every method used to stop inflation. Congress needs to recognize the fact that we understand their problems and are willing to submit ourselves to certain restrictions in order to keep our economic machinery sound.

★ ★ ★

WE MUST CONTINUE to prevent the granting of credit on too wide a scale. That will make people save so that they will be able to make larger down payments.

We also should be saving now and putting our money in Government bonds or savings accounts so that it will be there to usew hen production returns to a civilian basis and today's scarce goods become plentiful again.

We must also make Congress realize that we want price controls. If prices are not controlled, our dollars buy less and less, and wew ill not be saving for a future day if the extra money we earn is worth no more than what we had before.

If we do these things—insist on restriction of credit, on saving by all, and on price stabilization—we shall be grateful to Congress in the future and we will remain on a sound economic basis.

Child Behavior

Praise for the Child

By Frances L. Ilg and Louise Bates Ames

HAVE I been a good boy today, mummy?" asks the 6-year-old at bedtime, after he has kept the entire household in a turmoil since morning. "Do you love me?" asks the child at the very times when his behavior has been such as to evoke anything but love in his mother's heart.

If we treated the 6-year-old as he deserves to be treated, especially at the end of one of his "bad" days, we would probably summarize his transgressions and then provide suitable, and heavy, punishment. If we treat him as he needs to be treated, we will give him considerable reassurance, affection and even praise.

This does not mean that we should praise a child for his bad behavior. It does mean that best results will often be obtained by praising him for the one or two good things which he may have done during a day, and by planning with him toward a future when he will do even more good things.

SIX-YEAR-OLD Billy was climaxing a day of downright villainy with a bedtime temper tantrum. His mother, somewhat distraught, was about to tell him what a thoroughly bad little boy she thought he was. But she remembered our advice that the time when a child is behaving his worst is often just hte time when he is having the hardest time with himself; and that praise—if you can bring yourself to bestow it—is usually more efefctive than blame.

"Do you know, Billy," she said "I was amazed when I visited school this morning to hear you say the Lord's prayer. I didn't dream you knew it!" "Want to hear me say it again?" asked Billy, stopping his tantrum and wiping away his tears. And the day closed, for Billy and his mother, on a peaceful note. Bad as he knew himself to have been, Billy went to sleep with the knowledge that his mother was at least proud of something that he had done.

Never Let Him Go

by Rob Eden

CHAPTER 22(Conclusion)

LUCY awakened slowly. She opened her eyes and saw it was bright daylight. Her bedside clock said a quarter to three.

She stretched luxuriously, then called the nurse. When Nancy came in Lucy remarked:

"Am I getting lazy! Sleeping all day!"

"You didn't sleep much last night," Nancy reminded her.

"Get that 10 dollar bill out of my purse," Lucy said. "Call a taxi and go down to the newspaper office and buy all last week's papers. I want to catch up on my reading."

"Mr. Duff brought them yesterday. I haven't had a chance to give them to you, I have today's papers for you."

"Efficient Nancy," Lucy said.

She got out of bed, took a shower, put on lounging pajamas and went into the living room. There she took the stack of papers, lay down flat on her stomach on the thick rug and started reading. She had tied a yellow ribbon around her hair and she looked like a young school girl reading the funnies.

The Sunday paper had a full page of pictures on the shooting. One dramatic pose showed Tappy standing over the deputy coroner as he examined Roe's body. Another pictured Lucy and the guard who had shot Roe, sitting in his car, with the car window shattered.

"Mrs. Gayda won't like that," Lucy told Nancy, laughing.

* * *

She found one interesting bit of news in the story. Dusty Wallace had been taken into custody and told of his association with Roe Duff. When Tappy inherited his father's cafe, Roe was given cash. He went into partnership with Dusty, a gambler, and they bought territorial rights for a race wire, which brought track results and odds to gamblers.

They were still partners. Dusty told the police Roe had financed him when he needed help. He, in gratitude, had tried to keep Roe out of institutions. Raids had followed Dusty's story to the police and among the men picked up were Slick Jones and Sam Grove, two "persuaders" for Dusty who did his strong arm work. They confessed to taking Dr. Barton Tyler to treat Roe, but made no mention of kidnaping Lucy, too.

"Mrs. Gayda won't like that, either," Lucy commented.

Shortly before dinner time, Bart came to the apartment. Lucy was sitting on the floor, still in her pajamas, drinking a cup of hot chocolate. She didn't get up.

"It wasn't easy coming," Bart confessed. "I do want to go on with you, Lucy. I really want you. But I can't make a complete break with Mrs. Gayda. She's done too much for me."

"Perhaps you know best," Lucy said.

"You're not going to urge me to"? Bart asked in surprise.

"No."

He seemed elated.

"That's wonderful. I'll go over and tell her. I know she'll be pleased."

He started to go. Then came back.

"Aren't you going to kiss me"?

"Certainly."

Lucy still didn't get up. She lifted her face and Bart kissed her lightly on the lips. Then he was gone.

Nancy came in, smiling.

"Just like a play theater around here," she told Lucy. "Dramatics, all the time. It must get boring."

"Sometimes it does," Lucy said quietly.

"I'm going out to dinner," Lucy told the nurse a little later.

"Alone?"

"Alone. I'm going to the Mark. I'll have the detective walk over there with me. I feel like walking. And I'll tell Tappy tomorrow that I won't need you or the guard any longer."

"I'll miss the fun around here," Nancy said, her eyes twinkling.

* * *

An hour later Lucy was sitting at a side table in the Peacock Court. She had dressed in her best evening gown, and used a little more make-up than usual. She sat where she could watch the band, and ate a very extravagant dinner, slowly and deliberately.

A pretty blonde girl singer came into the stand and sang "One Enchanted Evening," a favorite song of Lucy's. Lucy watched every movement of the graceful soloist and listened to every word of the lyrics.

"Never let him go," the singer caroled.

"It's strange," Lucy said to herself, "All the times I've heard that song I never noticed those words before."

"Never let him go," she repeated.

"That's so right!" she exclaimed aloud.

"Pardon me?" the waiter asked.

"Never mind," Lucy said hastily. "My check please."

The detective was waiting for her in the lobby. They went out into the brisk breeze on California street.

"We're going home another way," Lucy told him.

They walked up the hill, past the Huntington Apartments and the Cathedral.

A short distance beyond, Lucy stopped in front of a familiar steel and concrete apartment building.

"Wait for me here," she told the detective.

* * *

Walking into the lobby she crossed to the elevator and was whisked skyward.

As she left the elevator and started down the long corridor she saw the night bellboy coming toward her. He carried a tray holding a bottle of beer and a sandwich.

They met midway down the hall. Lucy pointed to the door nearest them. The boy nodded his head.

Lucy handed him a dollar bill and took the tray.

"Let me," she said quietly.

She told the boy to knock.

"Room service," he called, then scurried down the hall and out of sight around the corner.

Tappy opened the door.

"Is it a mirage?" he asked incredulously. "Or is it really you?"

"I've been through hell," he said. "Haven't slept a wing nor eaten a bite since I saw you."

They sat down on the couch.

"Tappy," Lucy said seriously. "You mustn't take it this way. You have done everything a brother could humanly do. You did your whole duty, and now it's over. Roe had a twisted mind, which made him do things no sane person would do. It's fortunate that he didn't accomplish what he tried. We can both be thankful for that."

Tappy took Lucy's hand.

"You are so right. And how I need to talk to you! But tell me first, what about Bart?"

"He and I and Mrs. Gayda went round and round on the merry-go-round yesterday afternoon. When it stopped I got off—alone."

"You mean—"

"Oh, he came back today very humble, but it was too late. I've been such a fool, Tappy! Such a blind, stubborn fool!"

Tappy pulled her to him, and she buried her face on his shoulder.

"Never let him go," Lucy sang, her voice muffled in Tappy's coat.

"What was that?" Tappy asked.

"Nothing. Nothing at all."

"Lucy, I'm going to Europe," Tappy said. "I've got to get away. I must have a change. I haven't had a vacation since I was in college."

"What do you mean you're going to Europe," Lucy asked, running her hand through his hair. "We're going to Europe."

"What?"

"You would make me propose to you. But I like it."

Now she was in Tappy's lap, her arms tightly about him.

When Tappy finally let her speak again she said:

"I guess this must be paradise. But, oh Tappy, we took a lot of detours getting here, didn't we?"

THE END.

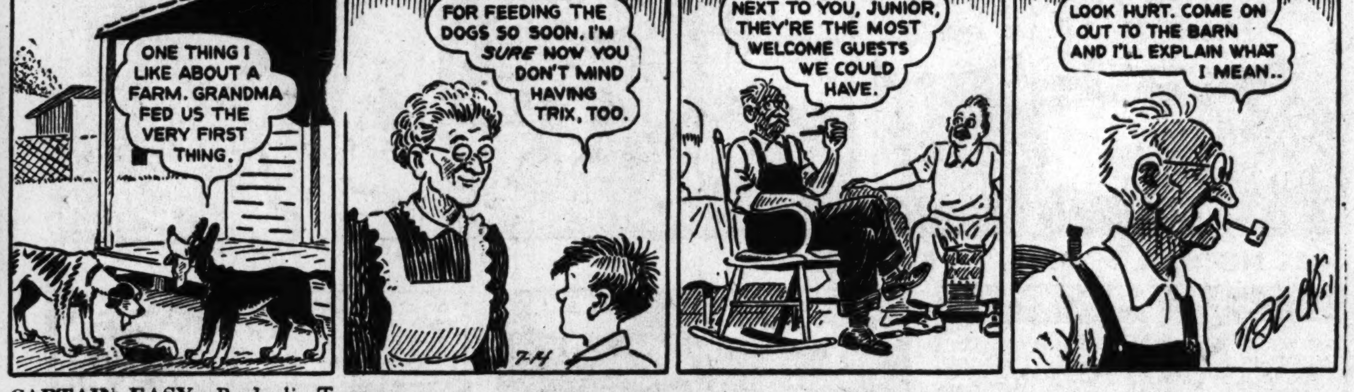
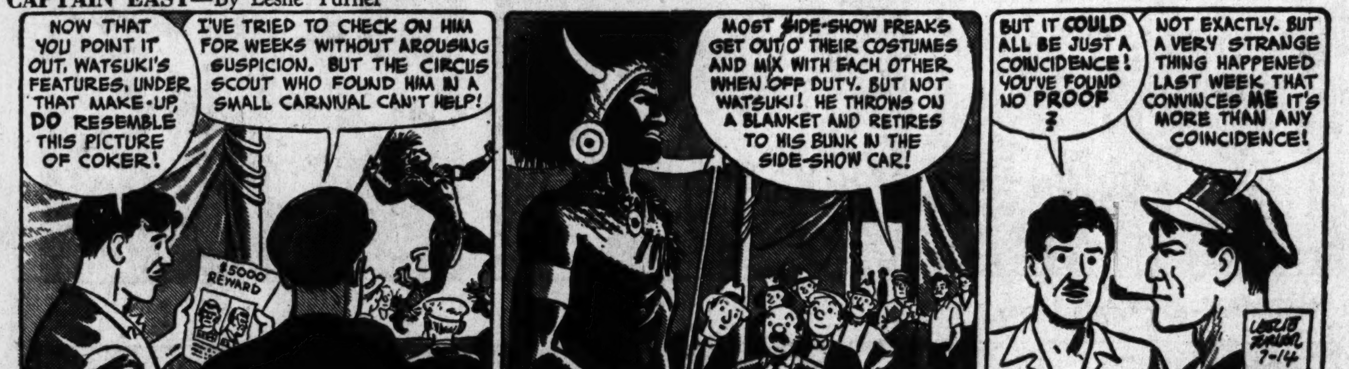
BO—By Frank Beck



ONE THING I LIKE ABOUT A FARM. GRANDMA FED US THE VERY FIRST THING.
THANKS A LOT FOR FEEDING THE DOGS SO SOON. I'M SURE NOW YOU DON'T MIND HAVING TRIX, TOO.
7-14
MIND! I RECKON NEXT TO YOU, JUNIOR, THEY'RE THE MOST WELCOME GUESTS WE COULD HAVE.
AHEM! NOW DON'T LOOK HURT. COME ON OUT TO THE BARN AND I'LL EXPLAIN WHAT I MEAN..

CAPTAIN EASY—By Leslie Turner



NOW THAT YOU POINT IT OUT, WATSUKI'S FEATURES, UNDER THAT MAKE-UP, DO RESEMBLE THIS PICTURE OF COKER!
I'VE TRIED TO CHECK ON HIM FOR WEEKS WITHOUT AROUSING SUSPICION. BUT THE CIRCUS SCOUT WHO FOUND HIM IN A SMALL CARNIVAL CAN'T HELP!
$5000 REWARD
MOST SIDE-SHOW FREAKS GET OUT O' THEIR COSTUMES AND MIX WITH EACH OTHER WHEN OFF DUTY. BUT NOT WATSUKI! HE THROWS ON A BLANKET AND RETIRES TO HIS BUNK IN THE SIDE-SHOW CAR!
BUT IT COULD ALL BE JUST A COINCIDENCE! YOU'VE FOUND NO PROOF?
NOT EXACTLY. BUT A VERY STRANGE THING HAPPENED LAST WEEK THAT CONVINCES ME IT'S MORE THAN ANY COINCIDENCE!

DARLING, DO YOU REMEMBER THE NIGHT YOU PROPOSED TO ME?
SURE
WE CAME HOME FROM THE MOVIES AND I FIXED A SANDWICH FOR YOU
THEN WE SAT IN YOUR PORCH SWING IN THE MOONLIGHT
IT WAS SO ROMANTIC—DO YOU REMEMBER WHAT YOU SAID TO ME?
NO, BUT I REMEMBER THE SANDWICH IT WAS SARDINE AND CHEESE AND PICCALILLI WITH MAYONNAISE ON RYE

THOSE FOLKS ARE RENTIN' THE HOGGINS PLACE!
DID YOU TELL 'EM WHAT THEY'RE GETTIN' INTO? THAT THEIR NEIGHBORS DON'T CARE FOR OUTSIDERS?
FRESH VEGETABLES
THAT THEIRS IS THE ONLY COTTAGE FOR RENT IN AN EXCLUSIVE COLONY?
WHY TELL 'EM AND SCARE THOSE NICE YOUNG FOLK?
MAYBE THEY'LL GET ALONG FINE! I DOUBT IF THE BOYS'LL TURN UP THEIR NOSES WHEN THEY SPY THAT PAIR OF PURTY LITTLE TURNED-UP NOSES!
THEY WILL IF THAT LITTLE SNIP, AUDREY BANKVALT, STILL RULES THE ROOST DOWN THERE, ED!

IF THERE'S ANYBODY IN BUCKSKIN WHO HASN'T HEARD OF YOUR "DISAPPEARANCE" AND THAT LUCKY AND CALIFORNIA ARE LEAVING TOWN WITH FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS, IT SURE ISN'T YOUR FAULT!
I HOPE THE NEWS HAS REACHED THE RIGHT EARS!
WHAT ABOUT THE POSSE?
I HAVE A DOZEN PICKED DEPUTIES STAKED OUT IN BRONSON'S BARN, MOUNTED AND READY TO RIDE!
WELL, ALL WE CAN DO NOW IS SIT BACK AND WAIT FOR THE "GHOST RAIDERS" TO STRIKE!
